39 DEAD IN AIR RAIDS ON BRITAIN

DRISCOLL ON STAND DENIES CHARGES

The hearing on Dennis D. Driscoll's application for a complaint against former Governor Eugene N. Foss on a charge of criminal libel came to a sudden and unexpected close this afternoon in the Municipal Court when Judge Burke took the case under advisement after but one witness had testified and counsel for Foss declined to introduce any evidence.

The only witness was Driscoll, the plaintiff. The hearing lasted just three hours.

The end came as a surprise not only to the spectators but to a number of persons in the courtroom who had been summoned as witnesses. Some referred to the close as "a sensational climax."

OTHER READY TO TESTIFY.

Driscoll's cross-examination finished at 1 o'clock. Though there were men present who had been called to testify for him, John F. Feeney, chief counsel for the plaintiff announced: "That rests our case."

Melvin M. Johnson, chief counsel for Foss, followed this up with:

"I don't think I care to be heard."

Attorney Feeney said he had a number of "respectable witnesses that would testify for Mr. Driscoll and show the charges of double dealing were absolutely false." Attorney Johnson replied with, "We are entitled to these witnesses." Feeney answered:

"No, you are not. This is only an application and hearing, and we have presented a prima facie case. This is not a trial."

Judge Burke then said:

"I am thinking whether in the feeling of public justice a possible delay is not called for. A political contest is new on, and I am in doubt whether it should be tried out before the primaries."

After Feeney had declared that under no circumstances would the case be disposed of without a trial in the lower court or by petit jury, Judge Burke asked:

"Where is Mr. Driscoll jeopardized or damaged?"

"He is charged with an attempt to bribe the Governor," declared Feeney. "He is accused of receiving $2,500 a year from a brewery, he is charged with selling out a strike, and statements are made to show that Mr. Driscoll is not the honest labor leader that we know him to be.

"Your honor made reference to a trivial mistake made in a newspaper interview with yourself, and how would you feel if I were to say in public that Judge Burke has his price? I ask your honor to issue process or continue this hearing and grant a process on the merits after the primaries if your honor believes it best.

URGES ACTION AT ONCE.

"You ought not to consider politics, but should issue the process at once. We are not urging the issuance for political purposes, and I have eliminated bringing politics into the issue and did not call former Mayor Fitzgerald because I did not want to inject politics into the case.

"If this case is continued it has the stamp of approval of Foss and tomorrow night he will say that after a court hearing he was vindicated.

"We also want to settle the question of whether or not a man can go on the stump and libel people to get votes. He started abuse against a man in 1913 and settled money damages, and he thought that would happen in this case when he said that Mr. Driscoll had his price.

"Mr. Driscoll has no price and is an honest man."

"I will consider it," said Judge Burke, and the hearing was closed.

The hearing opened at 10 a. m. At-

WAR THREAT ON LYNN TEACHERS

As a result of the election of two married women as school teachers in Lynn, Finance Commissioner Roy F. Bergengren of that city announced today that he would take steps to have the Lynn School Committee abolished and a commissioner of education appointed in its place.

The appointment of Mrs. William Zwicker of Everett to be teacher in the Knitlish High School and of Mrs. Pearl Hawley of Boston to be principal of the Washington Grammar School broke a long-established custom in Lynn to appoint only single women as teachers, and has stirred up quite a controversy among Lynn citizens.

Commissioner Bergengren said today:

"There is but one way to meet the attitude of the school committee and that is to abolish it and to appoint in its place a commissioner of education. This would add another member to the municipal council, making six.

"I am convinced this step is necessary. For more than two months I have received numerous complaints from parents of girls educated in the Lynn schools and graduated from the State Normal School who have not been able to secure positions as teachers in Lynn. In nearly every instance, I understand, these girls have been told that after getting experience outside Lynn they would be eligible to become teachers in Lynn schools.

"I shall introduce an order that a commissioner of education be elected very shortly. This, of course, would have to be submitted to a referendum vote of the people, but I have every reason to believe such a move would be popular."

Mayor George W. Newhall, who, with S. Walter McDonough, voted against the school committee's hiring married women at last night's meeting, said today:

"In voting against the election of married women, I followed out my policy of the past. I am unalterably opposed to married women teaching in Lynn schools when there is a sufficient number of single women available to fill the vacancies."

3 INJURED IN CRASH; 2 HELD

One man was seriously hurt, two others were bruised, a motorcycle with a side-car attachment was smashed and two men were arrested after a fight as the result of an automobile collision at Brookline avenue and Riverway in the Back Bay at 9 o'clock today.

The police reported that an automobile operated by William F. Gordon of No. 104 Washington street, Quincy, speeding out Brookline avenue on the wrong side of the street, ran into the motorcycle, which was standing by the curb on the proper side of the street.

Herbert R. Boomhower of No. 505 Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, who was on the saddle of the motorcycle, was crushed in the collision. He was taken to the City Hospital. Both his legs were badly bruised and he had internal injuries.

TWO MEN ARRESTED.

Gordon, driver of the auto, was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Albert Morris, on a charge of operating an automobile under the influence of liquor. Edward Parker, of No. 49 Washington street, Quincy, who was in the car with Gordon, was arrested on a charge of intoxication.

The police said that both Gordon and Parker put up a fight when Morris started to arrest them, but that the officer was aided by citizens in getting his men.

After smashing the motorcycle the auto ran up on a sidewalk, tilted sharply, then righted itself. Both Gordon and Parker were bruised in the collision.

The automobile is registered No. 21789 Massachusetts, which is the registry number of James H. Maloney of No. 1655 Hancock street, Quincy. The police tarted to get in touch with Maloney to learn how Gordon happened to have the car.

The police reported that they found bottles of liquor and a woman's comb and glove in the auto, also a quart bottle of liquor each on Gordon and Parker.

The motorcycle, with side-car or basket attached, is owned by Herbert Boomhower, who was running it. His brother, Paul Boomhower, had been riding in the basket attachment.

GASOLINE GAVE OUT.

The Boomhowers were riding inbound on Riverway. Just as they came to Brookline avenue their gasoline gave out. Herbert Boomhower stopped the motorcycle at the right-hand curb, near where Motorcycle Officer Morris was standing by his own machine.

Paul Boomhower got out of the basket, walked over to Morris and asked where he could get gasoline nearby.

"Lansdowne street," replied Morris. Just then the auto driven by Gordon bore down on the group. Morris said later that the auto was making sixty miles, with the muffler cut out.

Morris and Paul Boomhower jumped aside. Herbert Boomhower had no time to get out of his saddle before the heavy auto hit the light motorcycle with a terrific crash.

Invite Medical Society to Boston

Urgent invitations for the American Medical Society to hold its 1916 convention in Boston were wired the delegates in attendance at their convention in Rochester, N. Y., by Mayor Curley and the Boston Chamber of Commerce today.

CONFESSES GUILT IN KILLING

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Owen Talls, footman in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Griggs Nichols, after an all night grilling by Inspector Faurot, today confessed that he and a band of youthful gangsters planned the robbery of the wealthy widow and named the men who choked Mrs. Nichols to death.

Inspector Faurot said Talls told him that his accomplices planned to overpower Mrs. Nichols in order to obtain the strong box in which they supposed she kept $500,000 in jewels.

Startled by the widow's unexpected death, which may have been due to fright, the band made no attempt to get possession of the keys carried by Mrs. Nichols, but fled from the house, leaving Talls to cover their tracks.

GEMS IN VAULT.

It was learned today that the bulk of Mrs. Nichols' gems were in a safety deposit box.

That part of the confession of Talls given out by Inspector Faurot was to the effect that one of the three robbers was Arthur Walters, a Finn, whose real name is Waldemar, who was discharged as second butler by Mrs. Nichols about five weeks ago.

Walters, according to the alleged confession, needed money and kept begging Talls to allow him and some other men to enter the house and rob Mrs. Nichols. Talls consented on the promise of Walters that the gangsters would not be rough with the widow.

Talls knew the butler and cook would be away last night and the robbery was arranged for them. Edith Langfeldt, the maid, said Talls was not in the plot and took it in earnest when she and the footman were bound and gagged.

NO HARM INTENDED.

"I know they did not intend to do Mrs. Nichols any harm," is a statement attributed to Talls. I guess she must have come upon them unexpectedly. I guess she dropped dead. When the men came down stairs and went out they passed the room where Edith and I were, but they said nothing about Mrs. Nichols being dead."

The footman said that the maid was the first to get herself free. She released him and then called the watchman on the block and notified the police of the robbery.

"I did not go upstairs and did not know Mrs. Nichols was dead until told by the police when the arrested me," Talls concluded.

Gen. Von Bernhardi Given a Command

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 9.—Gen. Friedrich A. J. von Bernhardi, at his own request, has been assigned to a field command by Emperor William. He has already left for the front.

Gen. von Bernhardi is one of the best-known military writers of Germany. In a book entitled "Germany and the Next War," written in 1912, he forecasted many of the main features of the present campaigns.

Gov. Walsh Guest of John D. Crimmins

Governor Walsh left today for Noroton, Ct., to be the guest of John D. Crimmins of New York. The Governor expects to return to the State House on Saturday. This is the last opportunity the Governor will have for rest before taking up his political campaign.

Mrs. Smith Urges Wire Cages for Stenographers

Mrs. Charlotte Smith demanded today that stenographer girls be kept in wire cages while at work.

Mrs. Smith was addressing a meeting in the Colonial Building of the Women's Homestead Association. She is president of it. She said in part:

"Just as soon as the stenographer enters the office the employer ogles her, draws out a box of candy and gets nearer. A young girl can't do anything but bear it. Many a girl is afraid on account of her position.

"These old sinners take advantage of it. It's got to stop.

"I would have a law passed that no man can have a female stenographer in his office without a wire cage surrounding her."

Mrs. Smith also hinted darkly: "You don't know all that I do."

Mrs. Frank W. Page said, however, that if wives give their husbands a little more affection, no wire cages will be needed.

Schools Close at Lawrence Because of Heat

Boston was not the only hot place on the map today. In Lawrence, twenty-nine miles from here, the public schools were closed on account of the excessive heat. This was the first time on record that this has ever happened in the month of September.

Old General Humidity is to blame for that uncomfortable feeling today. Forecaster Smith says that the humidity registered 92.

Early this morning the thermometer climbed up into the seventies, and it kept on climbing all day. At 11 o'clock on top of the Federal building it was 79 degrees.

There are no showers in sight and a continuation of the humidity is probable.

Holyoke Street Car Strike Settled

HOLYOKE, Sept. 9.—The strike of the Holyoke street railway employes was settled today and it is expected that the car service which had been tied up between Holyoke and Amherst since August 26 will be resumed tonight.

William D. Mahone, president of the street railway employes of America, said today that the directors of the company and the officials of the union had come to an agreement and would hold a conference to settle the trouble.

GERMANS DROP BOMBS ON LONDON; SCORES WOUNDED

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Twenty persons were killed and eighty-six injured in last night's raid by German aviators.

The latest German air raid was over the eastern counties of England and in the London district

Of the victims, fifty-eight were men, twenty-nine women and nineteen children.

With the exception of four soldiers, all the victims were civilians.

The list of casualties as officially given out follows:

Killed—Men, 12; women, 2; children 6.

Wounded—Men, 46; women, 27; children, 12.

Among the killed was one soldier and among the wounded three.

In the air raid Tuesday night ten persons were killed and forty-three wounded, making a total death list of thirty and one hundred and twenty-nine injured in the two raids.

An official statement issued by the Press Bureau this morning said:

"Hostile aircraft visited the eastern counties and the London district Wednesday night and dropped incendiary and explosive bombs.

"At midnight a few casualties had been reported and some fires, which were then well under control."

BELIEVE AIR RAID WAS FELT IN HEART OF LONDON

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—The Daily News today received a cablegram from its London correspondent, reading:

"Daily News staff and office safe."

This was followed a short time later by a second dispatch which stated simply:

"All well."

These messages would seem to indicate that last night's air raid on London by Zeppelins was felt in the heart of London, as the Daily News offices there are in Trafalgar square.

GERMAN AVIATORS RAID PARIS; MANY BOMBS DROPPED

PARIS, Sept. 9.—German aeroplanes flew over Paris early today, dropping a large number of bombs. The extent of the damage is not reported.

The raid probably is in retaliation for the recent French raids on German towns, in which German civilians, according to German reports, were killed.

Paris has been immune from air raids for several months, though the German lines are little more than fifty miles from the city. Elaborate precautions taken by the Paris authorities have rendered it extremely difficult for German taubes to reach the city.

French airmen patrol the sky nightly and there is a splendid system by which the enemy airships are signalled. The last attempt to reach Paris was made by German aviators on August 28. A squadron of four aeroplanes crossed the French lines on the Aisne and sped toward Paris. They were encountered by French airmen a few miles outside Paris and forced to turn back after dropping bombs on neighboring villages.

Senator Lodge Sued for $20,000 Damages

A suit for $20,000 damages against United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was filed in the Middlesex Superior Court at East Cambridge today by Daniel H. Coakley, attorney for Thomas F. Tighe. Claim is made that Tighe was knocked down and hurt by Lodge's automobile on Aug. 9, while walking from Lynn to Nahant, where the Senator lives.

SUDDEN END TO FOSS HEARING

Driscoll Is Only Witness Who Testifies, Though Others Are Ready.

terney Johnson announced that he had summoned as witnesses for his side former Congressman McCall and Grafton D. Cushing, candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor, Executive Clerk Hamlin of the Governor's Council, and other men of prominence. He said he had been unable to find Guy A. Ham, whom he wanted to summon as a witness.

The hearing was held in the judge's lobby, into which extra chairs had to be brought to seat the overflow audience. Into the small room were crowded about forty spectators. Others, unable to gain admission, remained in the courthouse corridors.

Driscoll was represented by John F. Feeney and two associates, while Foss, who was not present at the opening, was represented by Attorney Johnson and two associate lawyers.

After a discussion of the summoning of witnesses, Attorney Feeney said:

"I understand it is admitted that the published letters in the Boston newspapers under the name of Eugene N. Foss, on Aug. 21, Sept. 2, 3 and 4, are letters from Foss."

Johnson: "We are willing to admit any letters from Foss, especially the letter of (dated) Aug. 30, to District Attorney Pelletier."

"I object to the introduction of the newspapers with the letters, headlines and comment."

Feeney: "Foss was not only responsible for the publication but the natural inferences to be drawn from the letters. He is not only responsible for his own acts but results arising from those letters and the whole paper is admissible on the question of damage done."

Timothy Callahan, one of Attorney Feeney's associate counsel, read letters from the newspapers, and later Feeney said:

"I call the court's particular attention to the paragraph which says Driscoll received a salary of $2,500 a year from the Massachusetts Breweries Company as a salesman of their products and $2,500 a year to organize a movement against prohibition."

QUESTIONS FEENEY.

Attorney Johnson said:

"I ask Mr. Feeney to show now on what he relies to prove libel."

"I decline to do so at this time," said Feeney.

Feeney called Driscoll to the witness stand. Driscoll said he lived at No. 110 Wayland street and that he was the man referred to in the Foss letters.

Q.—Did you combine or conspire with anybody to prevent Foss from running for Governor? A.—No.

In answer to further questions, Driscoll also denied that he had combined or conspired with anybody to violate the criminal practice act or to engage in a campaign of malicious mischief.

Q.—Did you attempt to destroy or diminish the welfare of the people or the prestige of the Commonwealth. A.—No.

Q.—In 1915, or at any other time, did you propose yourself as chairman of the Prison Commission Board. A.—No.

Q.—Did you promise Governor Foss or anybody that the strike in the Foss factories would be called off if you were appointed to that position? A.—Emphatically no.

EMPHATIC DENIAL.

Driscoll's charge is that Foss libeled him by writing to District Attorney Pelletier that Driscoll suggested he would call off a strike at the Sturtevant Blower Works in 1913 if Foss, then Governor, would make Driscoll Prison Commissioner.

On the stand today Driscoll made emphatic denial of this, and also denied that he had ever received, directly or indirectly, any money from the Massachusetts Brewing Company.

Driscoll testified that he was secretary of the Trades Union Liberty League, which he said was composed of unions of persons employed in the manufacture and sale of brewery products. Referring to a meeting of the league in Faneuil Hall, at which President Pfaff and Treasurer Alley of the Breweries Company were said to be present, Driscoll said they were present solely as spectators.

He denied that the name of Foss was mentioned at the meeting.

Driscoll was then cross-examined by Attorney Johnson.

Attorney Johnson introduced a letter sent out July 26, 1915, by the Trades Union Liberty League, setting forth the purposes of the league and asking members of the league to secure the pledges of their Senators and Representatives against the prohibition movement. Driscoll's name was conspicuous among those of the officers of the league printed on the letterhead.

Q.—Were the replies of letters sent to candidates read at the Faneuil Hall meeting? A.—Yes.

Q.—Your league opposes candidates in favor of prohibition, doesn't it? A.—Yes; we favor temperance, but not prohibition.

NOON RALLY HELD BY PROHIBITIONISTS IN FANEUIL HALL

The Prohibitionists held a noontime rally in Faneuil Hall today, which was attended by about 300 people. Prayer and songs were offered for the success of the Prohibition cause.

The prayer was offered by the Rev. C. P. Miller and the songs were composed of Prohibition words set to popular music and rendered by a quartet.

Willard O. Wyle presided and the speakers were Ira Landrith of Nashville, Tenn., and William Shaw, the Prohibition candidate for Governor.

Candidate Shaw declared the only issue presented by speakers of other parties is the issue of party success.

He said in part:

"So far as I have been able to discover the one and only issue presented by the party leaders is the question of party success, and in view of the vast record of both the parties the people have no interest in that issue.

"For lack of an issue the candidates spend their time in crimination and recriminations, and if one-half what they say about each other is true there is reason enough why the voters should retire them both and set up a new administration of the people, by the people and for the people, with no alliances that will defeat the reforms demanded by the people."

FOSS ON THE STUMP IN THE BERKSHIRES AS CASE IS CALLED

While the court hearing on Dennis D. Driscoll's application for a criminal libel complaint against former Governor Eugene N. Foss was in progress in Boston city court today Mr. Foss was stumping the western part of the State.

He traveled in an automobile, taking along the bugler whose notes have drawn attention to the presence of the candidate.

Mr. Foss stopped at the Red Lion Inn in Stockbridge to see former Senator Allen Treadway, but the latter was out.

At Lee Mr. Foss spoke in Memorial Hall to forty-two people. He urged the Prohibition issue.

At Pittsfield he addressed 600 employes of the General Electric Company. Thence he went to North Adams and onward into Hampshire county.

ANXIETY OVER NEW GERMAN ATTITUDE

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN, Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—While waiting for the arrival of the German report on the Arabic disaster, Secretary of State Lansing today dissected the affidavits collected by Ambassador Page from British and American sources dealing with the sinking of the big White Star liner.

The administration is much more troubled over the outlook than it cares to admit, despite the "comforting assurances" from Berlin that "stunts" are scheduled on the three-day program arranged by the Order of Lumbermen. Instead of the usual formal banquet the Hoo-Hoos will "feed on the roof" of their big Redwood exposition home in honor of their black cat mascot.

The administration is much more troubled over the outlook than it cares to admit, despite the "comforting assurances" from Berlin that the reply carries the complete text of the orders given the submarine commanders directing them not to attack merchantmen without warning. The reason for this government's embarrassment is the determination originally arrived at by the President and communicated to Ambassador von Bernstorff by Secretary Lansing that if a submarine sank the Arabic without warning the United States would demand that its commander be punished.

The commander has justified his action by declaring he was certain that the Arabic tried to ram the liner. The captain's own affidavit, a very lengthy document, specifically set forth that he at no time saw the submarine, that he was steering for the British steamer Dunsley, which was plainly in distress, when suddenly the wake of a torpedo was seen and then his steamer was hit.

Captain Finch declared that the direction of the torpedo showed that the submarine was not off the bows of the Arabic, a fact that he emphasizes as proving that the submarine could not have been expecting an attack from him.

In addition there are five affidavits from survivors of the Dunsley, which directly charge that the submarine was steered around behind the Dunsley, so that the Arabic would have no warning of its presence. Secretary Lansing was asked what would be the course of this government in determining which version was to be believed, that of the survivors of the Arabic, as confirmed by the officers of the Dunsley or the statement of the German submarine commander.

He said that he did not know that it would be impossible to reach a conclusion as to the course to be pursued until he had carefully examined all of the evidence. He said that he did not know when the German note would reach him, but he hoped it would be available not later than tomorrow.

"The German Foreign Office has signified a willingness to submit the question of reparation and recompense to arbitration presumably under the manner laid down by The Hague conference," the Secretary was asked, "will that suggestion be acceptable to this government should it develop that the facts as reported from the German and British and American sources are utterly irreconcilable?"

SAY MOHR WAS HAUNTED BY FEAR OF PLOT

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 9.—Sensational evidence relative to Dr. C. Franklin Mohr's dread that he would be murdered by his wife was brought to light by the examination of employes at "Montpelier," the dead physician's fashionable estate at Middletown, a suburb of this city.

John McAndrews, superintendent of the estate, informed an AMERICAN reporter that Dr. Mohr told him and two women employes on the day before he was assassinated in his touring car and Miss Emily Burger, his former secretary, was seriously wounded, that he feared he would be the victim of a murder plot.

"Dr. Mohr told me many times that he was afraid his wife would 'frame him,'" added Superintendent McAndrews, who is to be one of the State's star witnesses. "Also that he was afraid of Victor Brown, whom I had discharged on his orders three weeks before.

TOLD EMPLOYES OF HIS FEARS.

"Dr. Mohr and Miss Burger were waylaid and shot on Tuesday night. On Monday Dr. Mohr had a long talk with me and Martha Wilson and Julia Duffy. He met me near the stable, just before noon. We walked into the stable together.

"He noticed in the stable personal effects of Brown's. He said: 'Why hasn't Brown removed these?' I replied that I didn't know. Dr. Mohr then said: 'Did you know Brown was seen in Newport yesterday (Sunday)?' I said I had heard so, too. I was curious to learn who had told Dr. Mohr that Brown had been seen, but he didn't tell me and I thought it best not to ask him.

"Dr. Mohr said he didn't like the looks of things. We walked toward the house and met Mrs. Wilson, the housekeeper, and Miss Duffy, one of the maids. We all four stopped and talked over the subject of threats for nearly an hour.

"The doctor told Mrs. Wilson and Miss Duffy what he told me about his fears of his wife. He showed his concern. He looked very much worried. It was a serious matter with him.

ORDERED BROWN DISMISSED.

"He had mentioned on various other occasions that he feared his wife would carry out her threats to do away with him. On Saturday, three weeks before the shooting, Victor Brown was found in the stable conversing with Mrs. Mohr, who had come from Providence for her son Charles.

"The fact that she and Brown had been seen talking in the stable together was reported to Dr. Mohr who was disturbed by it. He ordered me to dismiss Brown and I discharged him that very day.

"Brown got sore and threatened me. He said he would 'get' me and the doctor up. This annoyed the doctor. He seemed a changed man after Brown's dismissal.

Superintendent McAndrew is an intelligent young Scotchman who has been employed for years by some of the biggest men of Rhode Island. He is an expert horseman and purchased all of the doctor's horses. He was formerly employed by Howard O. Sturgis and the late Mayor Frank F. Olney. He was put through a long examination by Chief Robillard of Barrin ton last night. Chief Robillard has also talked with the other employes at the Mohr Summer place.

GERMANS KEEP UP ASSAULT IN ARGONNE

By International News Service.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Terrific fighting occurred last night in the Argonne, with the Germans continuing the assault launched yesterday afternoon with 40,000 men against the French positions.

Today's communique from the War Office admits the loss of a portion of a French trench, but states that the French troops captured some prisoners.

Paris military experts are unable to judge yet whether the resumption of the offensive by the Crown Prince's army in the Argonne is the beginning of a general movement by the Germans in the west, or merely a local conflict intended to relieve part of the German front from the deadly fire poured upon it by the French guns.

On other portions of the front the usual artillery duel is still in progress.

The official communique follows:

"In Artois there occurred last night a conflict with grenades and rifle firing from trench to trench in the sectors of Neuville and Roclincourt. A rather sharp cannonade took place to the south of Arras and in the region of Roye.

"In the Argonne, in the region of Fontaine Aux Charmes, very violent combats took place during the entire night. The Germans renewed their attack with great fury. Our line, with the exception of part of a trench to the east of Layon-de-Binarville, was everywhere maintained. We took some prisoners and captured a rapid fire gun.

"In Lorraine, in the forest of Parroy, some advance post engagements were reported, in which we had the advantage.

"In the Vosges fighting with grenades occurred on the heights to the east of Metzeral.

"Fifty shells were thrown yesterday by our aviators on the station at Challerange. Between 8 and 9 o'clock last night one of our dirigibles bombarded the station and the mills at Neale."

Brockton Man Run Over by Automobile

Frank Girsansky of No. 121 Brighton street, Brockton, was knocked down and injured on the Revere Beach Boulevard by an automobile owned and operated by William J. Girsansky was trying to cross the boulevard at Chester avenue, and in attempting to avoid an automobile going toward Lynn, he was struck and fell under O'Brien's machine. The front wheel passed over his leg, causing several abrasions and contusions. He was treated by Dr. George Wilkins of Revere and then

Give the child shoes that fit the feet

Nature makes the foot in the correct shape and if permitted will maintain that perfect shape through infancy, childhood and maturity.

Nature needs no assistance but insists upon freedom to carry on its work. Tight or pointed shoes interfere with the natural development of the foot.

The Educator Shoe is made to conform to Nature's plan and "lets the feet grow as they should." Parents who neglect their child's feet are responsible for the troubles that develop in maturity. There are Educators in various leathers in prices ranging from $1.35. to $3.00

HELEN M'CARTHY, Roxbury High School of Practical Arts girl, crushed to death against Elevated pillar on opening day of school year.

START CRUSADE AGAINST PILLAR OF DEATH

Members of the Egleston Square Improvement Association and other residents of the neighborhood where Columbus avenue crosses Washington street in Roxbury, are circulating a petition to the Boston Elevated Company for removal of the Elevated death pillar, against which fifteen-year-old Helen McCarthy was fatally crushed by a Standard Oil auto truck, also for the removal of another Elevated pillar in the middle of Egleston square.

Secretary Frank D. Frye of the Improvement Association is active in circulating this petition. The residents about the square feel that, if these two pillars could be removed, danger to pedestrians would be removed. This is particularly true, they say, of the pillar in the middle of the square. The elimination of this would, it is said, keep traffic away from the curb.

It was also said today that a hole in the road surface of Columbus avenue, just where the down-grade of the avenue widens into the square, caught one of the forward wheels of the auto truck, swerving the forward wheels so sharply that the driver, Roswell A. Ash, lost control. This, it is said, made the body of the auto lurch violently against the sidewalk pillar, against which the girl was crushed.

Ash was arrested, but Judge Hayden in Roxbury District Court declined today to issue a manslaughter warrant against him. Ash was represented by former Police Commissioner W. H. H. Emmons. Patrolman Michael King testified that witnesses told him the truck was running at moderate rate.

Robert J. Stewart, eighteen, of No. 24 West Walnut Park, was also standing near the fatal post, and was struck a glancing blow. He received emergency treatment from Dr. John W. Malone of No. 2037 Columbus avenue, and was then taken to the City Hospital. He is suffering from wounds about the head.

DRIVER SAVES LIFE OF FIRE CHIEF

Driver J. F. McNamara of Ladder 1, Friend street, averted a serious accident while responding to a two-alarm fire on Dunstable street, Charlestown, when he turned three horses attached to the truck into the sidewalk on Rutherford avenue, near Chapman street.

Ladder 1 was going up Rutherford avenue when the pole horse stumbled and fell. Acting District Chief Hines of the West End was coming behind the truck within a few yards in his auto, at a fifty-mile clip, when the horse stumbled.

McNamara saw that the other two horses would go down and threw all his weight on the rein toward the sidewalk. He threw the horses over just in time, for Chief Hines' machine shot by, grazing the apparatus. All three animals were cut and bruised, but not seriously. Chief Hines later said that it was about as narrow an escape as he ever had.

The fire was in the lumber yards and storage sheds of the A. M. Wood Lumber Company at No. 31 Dunstable street.

Found on Lawn with Throat Cut

William J. Ring, thirty-five years old, of No. 23 Weld park, Jamaica Plain, was found early today, lying unconscious on the grass, outside his house, with his throat cut. On a window sill nearby a blood-stained razor was found. Ring was found by Mary Tirrell, another occupant of the house, who was awakened by his groans. Ring died shortly afterward. The police say it is probably a case of suicide.

AUSTRIANS FIRE ROVERETO AS THEY LEAVE

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Rovereto has been evacuated and burned by Austrian troops, according to a news agency dispatch from Amsterdam. This city, on the Leno, near its junction with the Adige, lies only thirteen miles southwest of Trent, the great Tyrolean fortress which is one of the main objectives of the Italian army.

The Amsterdam message states that the entire town is now in flames.

Ford Increases His Peace Fund to $10,000,000

DETROIT, Sept. 9.—Henry Ford has increased the endowment for his world peace fund from $1,000,000 to $10,000,000. Methods of its disposition will not be taken until he confers with John Wanamaker and Thomas A. Edison at Mr. Wanamaker's Summer home soon. The announcement of his gift came after a busy day spent at the Michigan State Fair, where Mr. Ford inspected the exhibit of convict-made work by the Michigan State Prison Board. Turning to George W. Hartt of the board, Mr. Ford said:

"I will take your discharged inmates as fast as they come out and put them to work.

"I have never met a man yet who was thoroughly bad," said Mr. Ford. "Every man has his good qualities and they will reassert themselves if given a chance. My experience with men is that they never get into trouble when they are kept busy. It is idleness that breeds crime."

RUSSIANS BEAT GERMANS IN GALICIA

By International News Service.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 9.—A Russian victory in Eastern Galicia resulting in the capture of 8,000 German troops and thirty guns is announced in an official statement issued by the War Office early today.

Enormous losses were also suffered by the enemy in killed and wounded, the official statement says. It characterizes the result of the conflict as "complete German defeat."

The official statement follows:

"In Galicia, near Tarnopol, Tuesday, we achieved a great success against the Germans. The Third and Fourth Reserve Divisions, reinforced by an Austrian brigade, with great quantities of heavy and light artillery, according to statements made by prisoners, had been preparing for several days for a decisive attack. This was fixed for the night of Tuesday-Wednesday.

TOOK THE OFFENSIVE.

"Forestalling the enemy, our troops took the offensive, and after a stubborn fight on the Koljonka the Germans were completely defeated on Tuesday evening.

"At the end of the engagement the enemy developed an artillery fire of most extraordinary intensity. Only the impossibility of replying with the same weight of metal prevented us from further developing the success we had obtained.

"The Germans, besides suffering enormous losses in killed and wounded left us prisoners in our hands more than 200 officers and 8,000 men. We captured thirty guns, fourteen of which were heavy calibre, many machine guns, gun limbers and other booty.

"After a brief pursuit our troops occupied their former positions on the river Sereth. The Emperor, having received a report of the defeat inflicted upon the enemy, sent an order to express to his valorous troops his joy and thankfulness for their success and the heavy losses inflicted on the enemy.

WITHDREW ON RIVER BANK.

"In order to occupy a position better covered we withdrew a little on the right bank of the River Lautz. The Germans directed a violent artillery fire and asphyxiating gases against our positions from the lakes in the region of Nowy Troki.

"In the region of Doubnok and Hegnetz we occupied new positions on the river lawn and upper Gorwyn. Similar German attacks continue from Grodno in the region of Orossoitzki railway station and towards Skida. In the latter direction we repulsed the enemy with great losses for him and took scores of prisoners. South of the Niemen the enemy delivered very stubborn attacks upon the region of Wolkowysk on both sides of the railway to Brest.

"South of the Thenbowitz region the enemy was repulsed at numerous localities. More than 40 officers, 2,500 men, three guns and ten maxims were captured.

"Between the Dniester's left bank and the lower Sereth the Austrians resumed the offensive in the region of Wonlatytz. Their offensive was held. Eleven officers, more than 1,000 men and a number of maxims were captured.

BELIEVE DUMBA MUST LEAVE COUNTRY

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Decisive action that will satisfy the American people will be taken in the case of Dr. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, according to a high administration source this afternoon.

This announcement was made following the referring of the legal questions involved, not only in the case of Dr. Dumba himself, but in that of War Correspondent Archibald, to Assistant Attorney-General Warren. Just what the action to be taken is, is at present known only to President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and the Department of Justice.

It is considered, however, that it has been definitely decided that Dr. Dumba must go, either voluntarily or at the request of this government. Warren was this afternoon directed by Attorney-General Gregory to make a complete investigation of the charges affecting Archibald, whose passports have been revoked by the State Department, because he acted as a messenger for the Austrian ambassador. He will determine whether Archibald actually violated any of the laws of the United States and if he did will present the evidence to a grand jury, probably in the eastern district of New York.

"The questions involved in this case are so serious in their effect on the relations between this government and the Teutonic allies," said Warren, "that I have decided to make a most careful investigation.

"There is, of course, the question to be determined at the outset whether Archibald accepted a commission to deliver these messages with full knowledge of their contents and in a realization that he was using his American citizenship and his American passports to get through the blockade lines erected by the enemies of Austria and Germany.

"If so, then it must be determined whether section 5281 applies or whether we must proceed under some other section of the code."

It was learned that Secretary Lansing at his recent conference with the Austrian ambassador told him very frankly that the President was convinced that he had grossly violated diplomatic proprieties to an extent that had absolutely impaired his usefulness in this country. The ambassador took an opposite view and tried to justify his course by claiming that in all of his actions he had simply been following the instructions of the Vienna foreign office.

AGENT OF DUMBA CANVASSED PLANTS AT BRIDGEPORT, CT.

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Sept. 9.—A representative of the International News Service has definitely ascertained that a confidential secretary of Dr. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, has been in this city within the past week collecting data regarding the number of Hungarians employed in the plants now manufacturing war materials for the allies.

Close Schwab Summer Home Fearing Bombs

By International News Service.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 9.—Charles M. Schwab has received three letters, the last one recently, threatening to blow up his beautiful Summer home, "Immergrun," near Lorell, if he did not stop shipping steel and other war material to Europe for the use of the allies, according to information here today.

The Schwab servants left hurriedly today. Mrs. Schwab left several days ago and the big mountain mansion is closed right in the height of the early Autumn social season.

The first of the letters was received early in the Summer, it is said. A short time later several strange men appeared in the village. They have been here all Summer, spending much of their time at "Immergrun."

They are detectives from a New York bureau, according to reports. "Immergrun" is one of the most beautiful country places in the Allegheny Mountains.

Russia Waging War on False Passports

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Russia is continuing its fight to wipe out the use of false passports by spies, according to word reaching the State Department today. The Russian government's latest move was to issue an order that passports must bear the name of the particular town in Russia to which the bearer is going. All passports without such designation will be rejected.

WAR ON LIBERTY

By HOWARD NOBLE

"WE HOLD THESE TRUTHS to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

The three fundamentals specified in the Declaration of Independence have been thus defined: LIFE, meaning not only the right to live, but the right to equal opportunity to live; LIBERTY, meaning political liberty, the right to have a voice as to who shall govern; the PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS, meaning personal liberty, the right to do as you please, so long as you do not interfere with anybody else's right and keep within the bounds of propriety.

It is the fashion among prohibition orators to decry personal liberty as something which has become a mere appendage to the liquor business, and should therefore likewise be prohibited; but the fact remains that the principle embraced within the term was one for which men died in the War of Independence, and the right to exercise which is guaranteed to their descendants under the Constitution. Prohibition wherever introduced has invariably proved to be the entering wedge for a mass of other laws seeking to curtail the liberties of the individual.

For example, Iowa recently enacted a statutory prohibition law and now we find this item, sent out by the Associated Press: "Mason City, Iowa—The seizure of 119 barrels of beer caused the city authorities today to decide on the appointment of an official to be known as 'liquor censor.' It will be the duty of the censor to determine what citizens have temperance records sufficiently good to entitle them to receive liquor shipments from wet territory."

It will be recalled that in early Puritan days the tithingmen exercised control over the drinking habits of the people, invading the taverns and ordering that no more drink be served to any man they saw fit to restrain. This Iowa incident is but a reversion to the practices of two and a half centuries ago. The Puritan never admitted the principle of personal liberty, nor does the prohibitionist.

In California, where prohibition was defeated by an immense majority, the proposed law contained a clause providing that a second conviction for serving wine at meals in one's own home should be punished by imprisonment. In a dry county of Missouri a citizen was convicted of entertaining guests in his own home by giving them wine, but the Missouri Supreme Court ruled that merely because a State had a law prohibiting the sale of liquor in a "dry" county, citizens of said county were not prohibited from drinking liquor. The judiciary, be it said to its credit, stands as a bulwark against these insidious attacks upon our liberties.

Instances of such interference with liberty are innumerable. In Arizona, where prohibition recently went into effect, churches are unable to obtain wine for the sacrament without resort to the courts, the railroads having refused to accept for shipment into that State any alcoholic beverages, no matter for what purpose intended. In Kansas no officeholder is permitted to use intoxicating liquors, even in his own home; and, according to newspaper reports, the regulation has lately been amended to include cigarettes also.

There is no arguing away the proposition that prohibition is a subversion of liberty. It would be just as consistent in principle for the Government to prohibit the sale of onions as the sale of liquors; or, an illustration more to the point, to prohibit the sale of automobiles on the ground that many persons ruin themselves financially in acquiring them, and that thousands of lives are sacrificed annually through their reckless use. Prohibition contemptuously thrusts aside all principles of self-control—it reckons as nothing the influences of education, experience and moral suasion. It is based upon the assumption that the individual has no inherent rights which are bound to be respected, and therein lies the danger to our free institutions.

Coercion never yet made for the upward swing of the race. Nations which have most advanced the cause of civilization have interfered least with the inherent liberties of the people. The principle of political liberty was established by the war following the Declaration of 1776; the revolt against the repression of personal liberty awaits a new Declaration of Independence.

Nervous Periodical Headaches

Succumb to Anti-Kamnia Tablets

This trouble commonly called "sick headache," is said to be due to the retention of urea in the system. Often it is stated that a poor condition of the blood is a cause of these headaches, or that it is a nervous condition; and in certain cases, no doubt this is true.

Whatever treatment is demanded, it more for the pain than anything else, and Dr. A. F. Stuellenwandt of Louisville, has found Anti-kamnia Tablets to give prompt and satisfactory relief. "Rest should be insisted upon" he says, "and the patient should go to bed, darken the room, and all the attendants and family should be as quiet as possible. An emetic will sometimes shorten the attack. The bowels should be kept open with Cascarets," a hot bath and a hot cough rub-down with a coarse towel often give grateful relief. Two Anti-kamnia Tablets when the first signs appear, will usually prevent the attack. During an attack, one tablet every hour or two will shorten the attack and, "end the usual nausea and vomiting." These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for nervous headaches, neuralgia and all pains.

MRS. CARPENTER DEFERS FIGHT FOR SON

Mrs. Ralph G. Carpenter is in Boston to take steps toward the recovery of her son, who was seized by her husband at Magnolia Tuesday night. She and her father, William M. Paul, were closeted with their lawyer for several hours.

Mrs. Carpenter left Magnolia yesterday and came to her father's home at 162 Beacon street.

"I really can't see you," she told reporters as she stood in the vestibule of her father's home. She was an erect little figure with girlishly squared shoulders and youthfully flushed cheeks. Under her small hat one could see her masses of fair hair. It was only her eyes, her extremely blue eyes, that suggested the weariness, bewilderment, the anxiety into which she has been thrown.

"All else about her, from her smart blue suit and trig light shoes to her decisive voice gave the impression of courage.

"I really can't see you," she said. "I can't talk, that's all. Say that I haven't any plans. I don't know what I am going to do yet; how can I know? It was all entirely unexpected and—that's all I can say."

Whereupon she retreated up the stairs and left her father to be interviewed.

"We don't want to talk about this matter yet," Mr. Paul gravely said. "This thing has taken the girl off her feet, and we don't know where we are. Unexpected? Certainly; the seizing of the boy was entirely unexpected. My daughter had no idea of such a thing happening. There was no reason for it. My daughter was perfectly willing to go to Wolfboro with the child, and had told Mr. Carpenter's counsel so."

That Mr. Carpenter was acting within his legal rights when he drove up to his wife's cottage on the grounds of the Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia, and seized their son Ralph, was admitted by George C. Dickson of No. 53 State street, attorney for Mrs. Carpenter. He said the mother knew the boy was with his father in Wolfboro, N. H., but was considering no immediate steps to bring about his return.

"I look for the other side to act first," said the attorney. "Apparently they are the aggressors. At present we are awaiting developments."

Asked why Mr. Carpenter should want to take the boy away from his mother, if he knew where she was, he said:

"That is what I am unable to understand. Only last week Michael J. Sughrue, counsel for Mr. Carpenter, telephoned Mrs. Carpenter and asked about the child going to Wolfboro to visit his father. Mrs. Carpenter replied that she was willing for him to go with the child any time her husband invited her."

"Wouldn't she let the boy go alone?" the lawyer was asked.

"She did not object, but the boy objected. You know what eight-year-old boys are sometimes," was the reply.

The attorney added that as yet there had been no steps taken toward a divorce or a separation.

HARVARD MEN IN LEAD AT NEW CAMP

By International News Service.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The third business men's camp, now officially known as the Third Battalion B. M. C. I., has opened with a rush.

A glance at the roll of the new arrivals shows a marked preponderance of Harvard men, particularly from Boston and suburbs, due probably to the propaganda carried on at the suggestion of Major-General Wood by Harvard men who were members of the last camp.

Among those of prominence here are James Speyer, New York, banker; John W. McGrath, Colonel Roosevelt's private secretary; Arnold Lawson, son of Thomas W. Lawson; Elihu Root, Jr., W. R. Driver, vice-president of the New England Telephone Company; P. A. Frothingham, brother of Lieutenant-Governor Frothingham of Massachusetts; T. Lathrop Jones and Philip W. Wrenn, tennis champion of Boston.

July Arms Exports Near $50,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—United States exports of war supplies are increasing enormously, now that converted munition plants are getting into full swing. Figures by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce show that shipments of horses, mules, automobiles, aeroplanes and explosives, all classed as war supplies, aggregated nearly $50,000,000 in July.

For Freckled, Tanned, Red or Wrinkled Skin

Just beneath that freckled, tanned or reddened complexion there's an exquisitely beautiful skin of youthful tint and delicacy. If you would only bring the complexion to the surface, discarding the discolored cuticle, you'd have a clear, simplest, most natural manner imaginable. Just get an ounce of Mayatine, an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax, apply at night like cold cream, removing mornings with warm water. The wax absorbs the discoloring particles of scarcely noticeable flakes of skin, causing no discomfort whatever. Cutaneous defects like pimples, blotches, liver spots, smooth patches, freckles, of course disappear with the old skin. Nothing else will accomplish such wonderful results in so short a time.

Fine lines and even deeper wrinkles often appear at this season. In such cases nothing is better than a face bath made by dissolving one powdered saxolite in a pt. witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.—Advertisement.

No Man Can Be Happy Who Regards Himself Alone, Who Turns Everything to His Own Advantage

Their Married Life

Warren Plans a Trip to Top of Mount Tamalpais

Copyright, 1915, by International News Service.

THE train steamed into Mill Valley and Warren led the way out of the car and around the little country station. Ahead of them the California mountains stretched away into vistas of greenness, the sun touched the leaves here and there with spots of gold and the air blew softly with just enough tang to be invigorating. In short, it was a perfect day, and the party had planned to ascend the crookedest railroad in the world to Mount Tamalpais.

They had covered the beautiful Exposition Grounds again and again. Helen and Louise had browsed around inside all the large buildings and had microscopically investigated and examined all the exhibits. Some chance acquaintance had mentioned the ride to Mount Tamalpais, and it sounded so attractive that they had all planned to take it on the first perfect day.

That day happened to fall on Sunday and, as Helen said, it could not have been more opportune. Two weeks already since they had left home and after San Francisco they were to do Los Angeles and San Diego, returning by way of the Grand Canyon.

They all piled into the quaint, open car which was little more than an open trolley, and made Helen think of the thrilling roller coasters at the beaches, and they were then whizzed away into the green mountains ahead. The sturdy little engine puffed bravely away, and they went up and up and around and around.

Gradually the way behind was closed in a green thicket of bushes. Suddenly they emerged on to a clear space and looked back. The mists floated, vapor-like, over the Golden Gate, but the sun was shining, and the clouds below looked like veils shot with pink and saffron. The jutting green of the promontories was faint enough to suggest more outlines, and rolling below in velvet-shod beauty stretched the hill they were ascending.

It was a gorgeous sight, and as they went higher and higher they could discern their own track stretching back of them in curved lines. Sometimes they ascended nearly straight and again they described a bow knot or a double bow knot until the tracks looked like a fantastic design set in emerald plush.

At the Summit House the passengers all climbed out and went in. There was an inclined railroad that carried people up to the Marine observatory on the top of the mountain, whence ships were descried at sea, but Helen decided that they did not want to go up, as the view was little better than it was at the Summit House.

Inside there was a large living room, with a dancing wood fire, which felt very comfortable at so great a height; and Helen bought some picture postcards and sat down at the great centre table to write them. The rest wandered outside and walked around.

"We'll have something to drink when you are finished," said Warren, "and then we'll be ready to go down to the Gravity Road. They say it's more fun than a roller coaster."

Helen felt a little nervous at the prospect, although she wouldn't admit it for worlds, but she finished her correspondence and rose to go out to join the others.

"I'm ready," she said finally, after she had slipped her pencil and disposed the folding cards that she had sent to her mother and to the Stevens.

"All right, we'll go then. I for one am getting hungry," said Bob.

"So am I, said Warren.

"It seems to me as though we have done nothing but eat ever since we came West," declared Helen.

They went out and settled themselves with some other people in the gravity car. The incline was so steep that no power other than gravity was required to take them down, and although the man who steered somewhat controlled the speed, still they shot down with a velocity that took Helen's breath away. They slowed around the curves and in a few minutes she became used to the speed and was laughing with the rest and enjoying it more than she would have believed possible.

In the Muir woods, where grew the giant redwoods of California, they got out and walked into the tall shadows of a little rustic inn, where they were to have lunch. Helen was awed by the solemn grandeur of it all, the trees that she could not see where the branches swept the sky, and the rough bark of the huge trunks that were larger around than several ordinary trees put together.

The earth had the red volcanic soil that is so picturesque through the West and was thickly strewn with pine needles. The air was heavy with the odor of balsam, and by the time they had reached the rustic inn, buried in the midst of the forest, Helen was hungrier than she had ever been in her life.

"It really is delightful," she confessed to Louise. And by the time the party were seated at the table which was spread out on a little veranda with nothing over their heads but the trees, they all ate ravenously.

A very interesting man sat on the other side of Helen. Warren had spoken to him when they came up and had told the rest that he was the manager of the road.

Helen always remembered the meal afterward as the occasion when she ate her first artichoke. It was the man next to her who laughingly instructed her as to its use and flavor and showed her how to dip the tender leaves in the mayonnaise. They all laughed together over the episode.

"I don't know how it happened that I never had eaten them," she said, deprecatingly, "but are they used so much in the East.

"Not very much," said Warren, grinning broadly. "How do you like them?"

"I think they are delicious," said Helen, enthusiastically. "I shall give them to you for dinner the first night we are back. It's nice to know about a novelty like this when you are at your wits' end to know what to serve for salad."

Autumn Fashions as Shown NOW at the Paris Openings

Republished by Special Arrangement with HARPER'S BAZAR, the Oldest and Greatest Woman's Magazine

For the tea dance the Parisienne is wearing a velvet frock with a picturesque cape of fur. Ermine and seal have been combined in this pelerine of quaint lines. The snug fitting toque Evelyne Varon has decorated with a fantasy of aigrettes.

This mantle might have been copied directly from an old engraving, so typical is it of the mantles of long ago, and the modern woman will wear it developed in royal blue chiffon velvet with a deep cape-like yoke of ermine.

Her grandmother might have worn this cape of ermine, and she also would have outlined it with a deep ruffle of velvet overhung with the tails of the little animals. Right at the front of the pill-box turban Evelyne Varon has poised a bird's head and fantasy.

BY special arrangement with the leading French couturiers, HARPER'S BAZAR is able to present simultaneously with the Autumn opening in Paris sketches of the models now being shown to the American buyers —an achievement never before attained by any fashion magazine in America.

In Our Wonderful World

NEXT to air, water and food, there is probably nothing more essential to man's existence than cotton. A bit of the "irony of the gods" is found in the fact that while war has demoralized the cotton industry, yet without cotton there could be no war. Not a single modern gun could be fired, not a battleship sail nor an army be put in motion without this wonderful product of the modest cotton plant, for its fruit is the basis of all high explosives and smokeless powder. A warship is a floating cotton mill, from the suits of its Jack Tars to the grim shells ready as fuel for the mighty guns that make modern warfare so terrible.

* * *

That plants die like animals we all know; but we do not know the exact moment when they die. For hours a dead plant seems alive. There is no twitch, no death spasm. A scientist has, however, succeeded not only in noting the precise moment when a plant gives up its life, but in recording its death spasm. The plant is heated very gradually so as to avoid all excitation. This is done by placing the plant in a water bath, the temperature of which is continuously raised by the application of a gas or spirit flame. At 60 degrees Centigrade a spasmodic extraction takes place. All attempts to obtain response after this fail, even though the plant is cooled down to its normal temperature. This death temperature of 60 degrees is constant for all plants.

Among the hospital applications of electricity in the war is reported the sterilizing of wounds by zinc. A pad wet with zinc sulphide is placed on the wound, and, being connected to the positive pole of a battery, is said to make the surrounding tissues antiseptic by the zinc particles forced into them. The method, pronounced efficient and speedy wherever available, has a considerable disadvantage in its cost.

Straight, Lank Hair No Longer Necessary

(Guide to Beauty.)

A simple and harmless fluid, thirteen times as strong as the same, has proved so wonderfully effective in quickly straightening straight hair beautifully wavy. It bids fair to become "all the rage." You may be surprised to learn that this product is nothing more than plain liquid silmerine. More surprised, still, when you see how prettily it dries in the most natural-looking curls, curls and ringlets you could wish for. It makes a fine dressing for the hair, too, keeping it so soft and lustrous.

A few ounces of liquid silmerine, which can of course be found in any druggists, will do the hair curly, but one need be in no hurry to do this, for it is quite pleasant to use. It should be applied at night with a clean bath brush — a perfectly lovely wave and curliness will be in evidence in the morning. Best of all, one who acquires the silmerine habit need never again resort to the barbarous curling iron.—Advertisement.

Old Love Letters

Best Opinion Agrees That They Should Be Burned

TO burn or not to burn—that is the question—whether it's better to keep the love letters you wrote when life was young, or to destroy them.

Men and women usually find it hard to destroy love letters—no matter how circumstances have changed since they were written. They would like to preserve them as ever-interesting records of experiences that can never be repeated.

Most people would say, if you are unmarried, "Yes;" married, "No, decidedly no!"

A love letter is sure to be read sooner or later. They ought not to be, but they are, for this is a privilege of married life. It may not be exercised with ordinary letters, but it always is with extraordinary—and old love letters must be put in the latter category.

This is one reason why married people should not keep old love letters—they are sure to be found.

The next is obvious. A woman can't forgive a rival, and a man won't.

Let the woman burn her boats when she gets married. There will be no safe voyaging in them, any how, and they represent a very serious menace to happiness.

Then consider the case of the unmarried woman and her old love letters.

You see, there may be no new ones, and then woe betide the woman! Her prestige is gone, she is dubbed "an old maid."

It never occurs to anyone that the old maid has been a "particular." The love letters will prove it. It is not intended that she should carry them about, dropping them promiscuously; but if she will put them carefully where no one is intended to go, all will be well—they will be read and she will be respected.

So far as safety for other folks is concerned, well and good; but for herself, is it safe?

Can even the man listen without a sigh to that dear voice so sweet to him, conjuring up eyes which will never again look into his own, or a lovelight which has died down for ever?

No, it is not safe. Let the dead past bury its dead.

Therefore, married or unmarried, it is best to burn love letters. The love won't last any longer for the keeping of them, and a casket which has outlived its treasure is dry and worthless.

A Shady Spot

A stout old lady, strolling in a park on a hot day, was followed by a tramp.

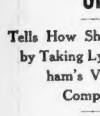
"What do you mean by following me in this manner?" she demanded indignantly. "If you don't go away I shall call a policeman."

"You have my wife's kind heart," urged the tramp. "have mercy. You're the only shady spot in the whole park!"

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Louisville, Ky.—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I suffered from a female trouble, and the doctors decided I had a tumorous growth and would have to be operated upon, but was refused, as I do not believe in operations I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my good health."—Mrs. J. M. RISCH, 1909 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.



Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill, do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

All our testimonials are guaranteed genuine and truthful. They came to us entirely unsolicited and are sincere expressions of gratitude for actual benefits received from the medicines.

This Liquid Attacks Hair Under the Skin

To gain control of coarse, bristly growths which have been caused by the unwise use of pastes, rub-on preparations and other things which merely remove hair from the surface of the skin, you must use De Miracle, the original liquid hair remover. Art de la Mode says: De Miracle is "the best method." Only publications of the highest character are quoted by us. Beware of so-called hair removers which are supposedly recommended through bogus quotations from so-called magazines which do not exist.—Advertisement.

Why We Quarrelled

The Man's Side

No. 1—The Husband with the Unmethodical Wife Tells His Story

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

Copyright, 1915, Star Company

MY wife and I quarreled over her lack of system and of businesslike habits. Being a man, and a business man, I must be exact and prompt. My wife has never learned that the world will not await her convenience, nor that figures and facts cannot be moulded to suit her whims.

I love her dearly. She is a lovely and lovable creature—dainty, pretty, affectionate. Yet she cannot understand how much her faults annoy me.

She was not on time on the day of our marriage. I reached the church with my best man five minutes before the hour set for the ceremony. Twenty minutes later my bride and her attendants arrived.

"What detained you?" I asked hurriedly.

"Oh, nothing in particular," she murmured. "There was no need of being exactly on time. A prompt wedding is unlucky," she added, with her sweet smile.

Of course, I smiled back. Later the maid of honor told me that she and the other girls had had "fits of nervousness" over Margaret's tardiness.

"But Madge wasn't disturbed, not a bit," she said. "It is wonderful to have such a disposition. She won't worry over little things."

Perhaps such a disposition is wonderful for its possessor, but it is maddening for a husband. Even on our wedding trip I lost my temper with my wife as she loitered over her dressing for some dinner to which we had been invited.

MAGNIFYING TRIFLES

"You make too much of trifles," she would chide when I glanced at my watch and told her to hurry a little.

"But," I would sometimes remind her, "our hostess's dinner is punctual about" what one paid would not do, and that she must keep track of every cent she drew.

"It is the simplest thing in the world," I told her. "If you will only be exact about your checks and stubs."

A month later she came to me in distress. In her hand was a letter from the bank, notifying her that she had overdrawn her account.

"I can't see how it happened," she complained. "I'm sure I haven't begun to use up all the money you put there. And I've put down on the stubs every check I made out."

I asked to be allowed to see her check book. She had entered the amount of every check drawn, but had failed in most instances to add up the amounts of the checks and to deduct them from the balance brought forward. The results can well be imagined.

I straightened the matter out for her, deposited in the bank a sum to make up the deficit, and we started out afresh.

She still has a bank account, but I am the one who must keep it correct, and must see regularly that her check books agree with her bank book.

"Such nonsense!" she exclaims fretfully when I tell her she should watch me do this.

"It bores me to distraction, and I am tired of it. I wish you would let me give up this bank mess and you just hand me out the money that I need, as I need it. Exactness is made for men like you, not for women like me."

I was annoyed at her inconsequence the last time she made this protest, and I spoke sharply.

"Since it does not bore you to spend the money I earn, you might at least train yourself to keep track of what you spend!" I declared.

She cried, of course, and I felt like a heartless brute.

Such scenes have become frequent between us. The worst of it is that they do no good.

Shall we always quarrel, I wonder, over such sordid matters? Will my wife, who has the heart of a woman, always have the inconsequences of a child?

Do You Know That—

In order to drain two thousand acres of lowland from which the sea has been shut off by high embankments, a windmill, presumably the largest in the world, has been lately set up at Harlingen, in Holland. It is fifty feet in diameter, is mounted on a steel tower and has steel sails.

All the up-to-date light stations on the coasts of the United States possess fog signals for warning the mariner of the presence of rocks and other dangers in foggy weather. The larger ones are so powerful that their blasts can be heard twenty-five to thirty miles out at sea.

During 1904 and 1905 the United States led the world in the production of quicksilver, but from 1906 up to the present date the leading producer has been Spain, whose great annular deposits of Almaden have proved very rich.

If an airship, with a constant speed of fifty miles an hour, started from the earth on a journey to the sun on January 1, 1916, it would be nearly 210 years on the journey, as it would not arrive until November 23, 2125.

Fish that live at depths of over 2,000 fathoms below the surface of the sea possess elastic throats and stomachs, which enable them to swallow other fish larger than themselves.

NOW FEELS LIKE BRAND NEW WOMAN

Interesting Story Related by Miss V. B. Smith, of 94 W. Newton Street.

Upon being questioned yesterday why so many Boston people are drinking Plant Juice, the new herbal digestive, Plant Juice Man said: "Wherever they have found great relief from stomach trouble, sick headaches, nausea and debility through the use of Plant Juice. It builds up the whole body and strengthens it; it clears the blood of all poisons and impurities, stimulates the liver into healthy action, corrects constipation and clears the system of all malaria and biliousness. Women who have spells of depression and blues, poor circulation, hot flashes, faintness, no appetite, sleep badly and are pale and listless, find Plant Juice just what they need. It instills new life and vigor, soothes the nerves, helps bring color to the cheeks and improves the complexion. Did it give results other than I have outlined, there would not be the demand and universal satisfaction expressed for Plant Juice. It does all and more than is claimed for it. Following is the signed testimonial of a lady that speaks for itself:

Miss V. B. Smith, who resides at No. 94 West Newton Street, a resident of Boston for the past 12 years, and a well-known and popular lady, says:

"For the past four years I have suffered with stomach trouble, indigestion and dizziness. I also had headaches, backaches and dizzy spells. My food would ferment in my stomach, causing a heavy, bloated condition and severe pain. I had pains all over my body. I was very restless and nervous and could not get any sleep at night. I had no appetite and nothing tasted good to me. In fact, I was in a general run-down condition and did not know what to do. I read about Plant Juice in the daily papers and how it was curing others in the city, and began to take it. In a few days I could see that for three weeks and have a fine appetite, sleep well at night, have no more aches or pains and am feeling like a new woman. I am in 90 per cent. better health than I have been in a number of years."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Liggett Drug Co.'s Store, corner of Washington and Avery Streets, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED IN NEWTON

John Harris, twenty, of Saxonville, was seriously injured when his motorcycle crashed into an automobile at a dangerous corner at Washington and Grove streets, Newton.

Harris was riding through Newton Lower Falls on Washington street in the direction of Saxonville, when an automobile, coming down the sharp grade of Grove street, shot in front of him.

COUPLE HELD IN MARRIAGE TANGLE

Mrs. Rose A. O'Reilley and Oscar Long, both of No. 21 Tickner street, were today held under bonds of $500 each for the grand jury on a serious charge.

The arrest of the couple comes as the result of a matrimonial tangle.

According to the story told by Mrs. O'Reilley she married Michael J. O'Reilley years ago in Scotland.

Shortly afterward he dropped out of sight. She came to this country about five years ago and met and fell in love with Mr. Long. She says they consulted lawyers who told them O'Reilley's long absence was sufficient to consider him dead, so they got married.

They had scarcely settled in "Brick's Row" as Tickner street is called, when the long lost O'Reilley showed up.

BOY THIEVES OF REVERE SENT TO SCHOOLS

Thirteen-year-old Eddie Robitaille and his sixteen-year-old brother, Eugene, who were found guilty on September 2 of systematically stealing purses and hand bags from women asleep in beach chairs at Revere Beach, were committed respectively to the Suffolk and Lyman Schools for Boys by Judge Bonson in Chelsea District Court today.

Their parents, Edward and Mary Robitaille of No. 3 Commoner road, Revere, who were charged with receiving stolen property, were in court on continuance. Their cases were put over to September 30.

The Metropolitan Park police testified at the original hearing of the boys that Edward would wander around among the beach-chair holders and, when he found a woman asleep, with a bag or purse in her lap, would signal Eugene. The younger brother, carrying a basket, would stroll up and take the bag or purse.

An Easy Way To Get Fat And Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with fatty foods, rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

There is a preparation known to reliable druggists almost everywhere which seemingly embodies the missing elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This modern treatment is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through regenerative, re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to the starved, broken-down cells and tissues of your body. You can readily picture what result this amazing transformation should produce, as with increased weight the cheeks fill out, hollows about neck, shoulders and bust disappear and from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh is added to the body. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Leading druggists of this vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

NOTE.—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

64 HOSTLERS STRANDED IN BOSTON

Sixty-four returning American horse tenders arrived in port on the Warren liner Sachem today. They shipped from Newport News, Va., on the Houston liner Hydespes and say they have no money with which to proceed to their Virginia homes. This is the second lot of American horse tenders to be stranded in Boston within two weeks.

The men say that the Hydespes carried over several hundred horses for the use of the allies. The hostlers say they shipped with the usual understanding that they were to be given transportation to their homes at the conclusion of their voyage.

At Liverpool the steamer was taken over by the British Admiralty and is now engaged in carrying troops to the Dardanelles. The American hostlers say they were given the option of enlisting or being returned to Boston. About twenty enlisted and the other were sent back to Boston, notwithstanding they told the authorities that Boston is several hundred miles from Newport News.

The authorities are in doubt what to do with the men and are trying to arrange with A. C. Lombard & Co., agents of the Houston Line, to furnish fares to Newport News. Temporarily the men are being detained on the ship, one of the hostlers was landed and sent to the hospital, suffering from pneumonia. The Sachem carried a large general cargo and saw no submarines.

Emery F. Blake of Everett paid a $10 fine, and Neal H. Campbell of Arlington and James E. Farley of Lowell, paid $5 fines each for overspeeding motorcycles.

Elmer J. Wiswell, of No. 55 Rogers avenue, Lynn, and Stafford M. Hennigan, of No. 47 Lawrence street, Danvers, paid $10 fines and Charles Commanday, of No. 117 Crawford street, Roxbury, paid a $15 fine for not having lamps lighted. Thomas W. Hillier of Cambridge was found guilty of overspeeding and his case was placed on file.

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

YEARS of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result is the practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

GIRLS' SWIM TO BE HELD ON SEPT. 18

FILL THIS OUT.

Please enter me in Girls' Championship Swim.

NAME .....

AGE .....

ADDRESS .....

Another week has been granted by the Swimming Editor to those who are training for the AMERICAN'S great annual Swimming Carnival in the Charles River Basin. The carnival, instead of being held on Saturday, September 11, will be held the following Saturday, September 18.

The change was made in order to make the carnival a joint event with the New England Swimming Association race, so that the two events together will make the day the big day of the season for the girl swimmers of New England.

The hour of the race remains the same, 2 P. M. The place is the same—the wonderful Charles River Basin, which is one of the most admired beauty spots of Boston. The race will thus not only be a great sporting event, but a great spectacle.

ENTER AT ONCE.

Five splendid prizes will be awarded to the winners of the race. There is time for any number of entries between now and the day set, and already a large number of girls have signified their intention of taking part in the race.

All you need to do to enter is to write your name, age and address on a slip of paper and send it by mail or otherwise to the Swimming Editor of the Boston AMERICAN, No. 40 Summer street, Boston. Do it now and you won't forget. There were 116 entries last year. Indications are that number will be exceeded this year.

The race will start from the Metropolitan Park Commission float on he Boston side, opposite the Union Boat Clubhouse. The stake boat will be upstream, and swimmers will pass the boat on their left and return to the start. The course is a mile and a half and 200 feet in length.

SEE RACE ANYHOW.

Lieutenant Albert Chapman will be in charge of the Metropolitan Police detail. Maffit Flaherty will head the lifesavers as usual. There will be a Red Cross tent conveniently at hand.

Swimmers are entering from Tenean, Wood Island Park, the Jamaica Plain Swimming Club, Noddle Island and other localities where Boston girls learn to be the greatest girl swimmers in the world.

Enter now, put in your time in training, and win fame and one of the prizes when the time comes. Or, if you can't enter, plan to come anyhow and see the fun.

Boston Grand Opera for Big Music Centres

Max Rabinoff, impresario of the reorganized Boston Opera, today issued the following statement:

"The New York newspapers of yesterday, in publishing accounts of the two weeks' season to be given there next month by the Boston Grand Opera Company and the Pavlowa Ballet Russe, stated that the city of Boston would doubtless require eight to ten weeks after this year—in the event that the public is satisfied with the twenty-four performances to be given by these combined organizations in the Boston Opera House from next mid-November to mid-December.

"What might properly have been stated, in addition, is that recent developments not only assures to Boston its own anual season by its own organizations in its own house, but that the plans made to have it appear in many of the important cities of the East, West and South will extend the prestige of this admirable company and under the name 'Boston Grand Opera.'

"Knowing that Boston could support eight or ten weeks of opera instantly created the thought that if enough other communities were similarly interested in shorter seasons arrangements might be made to re-establish the former Boston Opera organization and make it a permanent institution, serving musical centres other than its own and in a manner involving no hardship upon any single city. Besides, it seemed to me that it was someone's duty to preserve intact the admirable physical equipment of the Boston institution.

"We have discovered that there are a sufficient number of large communities which annually feel the need of the best available grand opera for several performances. We have discovered, too, that the people of these communities have sufficient confidence in the extent of the probable patronage to subscribe to guaranty funds to guard against possible deficits.

"As a consequence I am proud to inform the people of Boston that beginning October 4, in the Chicago Auditorium, the Boston Grand Opera Company will make its first appearance (and with the Pavlowa Ballet Russe, which will participate with it in every performance of this season, no matter where given).

"Thereafter the combined organizations will be heard and seen in New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, St. Paul, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Detroit, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Toronto, Washington, Baltimore, Louisville, and a few other centres. But the outstanding factor of the several seasons is that we have but to attain the splendid artistic standard of the former Boston company to be assured of yearly seasons in these cities in the future.

"It is little more than two months before our season at the Boston Opera House opens. Four weeks thereafter we shall have concluded our preliminary effort and have received the public's verdict. And if the offering of a distinguished combined organization and unique repertoire, in which a new grand opera air-force will be included, can be relied on to impress a progressive people, I am confident of the outcome."

Eight Midshipmen Marked for Dismissal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Eight midshipmen at the Annapolis Naval Academy have been recommended for dismissal, as the result of the hazing inquiry. Some of them are implicated in the hazing, while the others are charged with giving false testimony.

Secretary Daniels today said the "middies" will be given opportunity to make further defense. Their names will not be given out until Secretary Daniels passes on the finding of the board.

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

A Kansas City Lady Darkened Her Gray Hair and Stimulated Its Growth by a Simple Home Process.

She Tells How She Did It.

A well-known resident of Kansas City, Mo., who darkened her gray hair by a simple home process, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, stimulate its growth and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, 1 small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently, then every two weeks. This mixture relieves scalp troubles and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair. It does not stain the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray haired person look 10 to 20 years younger.

Eagerness for Candy Cost Girl of 8 Her Life

How eight-year-old Theresa Flaherty of No. 24 Dexter street, South Boston, lost her life trying to get a piece of candy out of an old barrel was told today in the South Boston court to Judge Logan.

Joseph Walker, twenty, of Idaho street, south End, driver of the wagon which snatched out her life when she fell under its wheels, was arraigned on the charge of manslaughter.

Little Theresa was sitting on the doorsteps of her home when the wagon laden with old candy barrels came along. She climbed up on the latticework and then straddled the barrel. She lost her balance and fell under the wheels.

Walker, it is said, did not know of the little girl's predicament until his attention was called to her on the ground.

Walker was held in $1,000 for a hearing tomorrow.

Cotton Mill Men Meet at Groton, Ct.

NEW LONDON, Ct., Sept. 9.—Several hundred members of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers gathered today at the Hotel Griswold, Groton, for their ninety-ninth semi-annual convention. A feature of the meeting will be an address by Senator Weeks of Massachusetts. An extensive program of sports and boating has been arranged by a committee headed by Charles H. Fish of Boston.

EDWARDS' ALIBI GOOD; POLICE SEEK WOMAN

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 9.—John J. Simonds, a Richmond street barber, corroborated today the assertion of Harry Edwards of Scituate that Edwards was being shaved in Simonds' shop between 9 and 9.30 o'clock Labor Day morning, the time when Judge Willis Knowles was shot and killed on Hopkins avenue, near the Knowls bungalow.

Leroy C. Bush, who knows Edwards, told the police he was in the barber shop at that time, and that he saw Edwards there. This in turn gives Edwards' story to the police of Worcester, where he is now.

On the strength of this Police Chief Hiram Kimball of Johnston has accepted Edwards' alibi as complete. Today Chief Kimball returned to the scene of the murder to take a fresh start.

Coincident with the acceptance of Edwards' alibi comes a new turn in the case, with mention of a woman's name. The police are giving attention to several rumors.

According to these reports, Judge Knowles is said to have quarrelled with a prominent man, living near Providence, not once, but many times. These quarrels were due to the fancied injustice this new suspect felt Judge Knowles was doing the woman of the stories.

The name of the woman, as well as the name of the man, is known to the police at work on the mystery.

QUESTION HOUSEKEEPER.

Mrs. Cora Wardwell, who was Judge Knowles' housekeeper for ten years, and who probably had a clear idea than any other of the Judge's habits, will be questioned in the effort to clear up these latest rumors.

The police of Johnston, Scituate and Cranston are less inclined now to believe that any official act of the Judge could have aroused murderous hostility.

These officials are inclined now toward the theory that the murder was the act of an insane person, or else inspired by some more adequate motive than is yet uncovered.

Harry Edwards was arrested in Worcester after the discovery that the store of the Case Company, in Main street, Worcester, had been broken into and the show window rifled of $1 bills.

Edwards was held in $1,000 on the charges of breaking and entering and larceny by Judge Utley in Worcester today.

EDWARDS GRILLED.

Allan Hinton, a Scituate constable, identified Edwards, and assisted in the fifteen-hours' grilling by police, which failed to shake any material point in Edwards' story.

Edwards declared that he had hunted with Judge Knowles over fifty times. He declared that there was no reason why he should shoot the judge, and declared that he had no idea that he was connected in any way with the hunt for the murderer.

When Judge Knowles was fired on a month ago at the time he said it might have been a "stray bullet." Edwards was in Worcester. He said he returned from Worcester to Scituate the week before the murder. On Thursday he attended a dance at the casino at Lake Moswanicut, hanging around Friday and Saturday. Sunday, he said, he spent the day in the woods with his wife.

Sunday night he declares he walked to Providence and spent the night in the streets in Providence. At 8 o'clock Monday morning he declares he was being shaved. It was just before 8 that Judge Knowles was murdered.

Nielsen at Odds with Geraldine on Motherhood

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Singing three thousand songs in five months is a record only one artist in this country has ever achieved. But despite the strenuous task, Miss Alice Nielsen is back in New York today chipper as a lark.

"I am glad to be back," Miss Nielsen confessed, "but I shall be still more glad to get to my bungalow up in the Maine woods. My twelve-year-old boy, Ben, is planning to take me on a mountain climbing trip, and I am anxious to put my walking powers to the test."

"Evidently you don't agree with Geraldine Farrar that a true artist cannot mix art and domesticity," the reporter remarked.

"Indeed I do not," returned Miss Nielsen decisively. "On the contrary, I don't believe a woman can be a true artist, until she has experienced the joys of motherhood. I would never give up my Ben for all the careers in the world. I may be a bit old-fashioned, but I believe every woman ought to marry and have children.

"I was only sixteen when I married," she added, reminiscently. "My husband was the organist of a church in which I sang. Since his death, when Ben was just an infant—he has been father and mother both to my boy.

"I haven't found that motherhood interfered with my career."

Stahl Gets Year and Half Sentence

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Gustav Stahl, the German reservist who pleaded guilty yesterday to perjury in making statements that the liner Lusitania was armed, was today sentenced by Federal Judge Hough to one year and six months in the Atlanta penitentiary.

Roxbury Boys Held on Perjury Charge

Frank McCormack and James Bradley, Roxbury youths, accused of perjury, were held in $1,000 each for the grand jury in Roxbury court today. The police say the boys testified falsely on August 31 when they were charged with breaking glass in a house on Lawn street, Roxbury.

ASTOR FLIES IN NEW PLANE AT MARBLEHEAD

Vincent Astor, millionaire and amateur of aeronauting, today made two flights at Marblehead in his new flying boat. Both flights were very successful and the youthful sportsman seemed greatly pleased.

Among the hundreds of spectators who witnessed his first flight was his wife, Helen Huntington, who, after congratulating her husband for his good work, took a train for Newport.

"Chet" Webster acted as Astor's pilot. The first flight was made shortly after 9 o'clock and another was made noon. On the first flight, after planing about the harbor, the machine was driven to an altitude of about 500 feet.

Young Astor was as enthusiastic as ever. While Webster wore a life preserver, Astor did not care to put one on. He sat directly behind Webster and noted everything that took place.

After the second flight Richard Sears of the Hearst-Selig Company was on hand with his "movie" machine and Astor was almost as much interested in the workings of the camera as he was his boat. He even admitted that his recreation while in Marblehead was limited to a ten cent "movie" house and that he enjoyed every minute spent there.

Says made some very interesting pictures of Astor flying and manoeuvring about the harbor.

Lightning Hits Troops.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 9.—During a storm on Monte Generoso, on the borders of Lake Lugano, a peak nearly 6,000 feet high lightning struck a group of Swiss soldiers. Four were thrown down a precipice.

Jamaica Plain Parochial School Scorched by Fire

Fire, early today, damaged the Leo XIII. Parochial School, connected with St. Thomas' Catholic Church, on Jamaica street, Jamaica Plain. The police estimate the loss at $300. There was no one in the building at the time.

A passerby on his way to work discovered smoke coming from the basement windows. After turning in an alarm he notified the rectory and also Sister Perpetua in the sisters' building close by. The sisters who act as teachers in the school, hurriedly dressed and left their quarters but there was no danger.

T. D. Howe Major of Cadets Artillery

Thorndike D. Howe of Lawrence, captain of the battery C, Field Artillery of Methuen, has been elected major of the Second Corps Cadets, Field Artillery. Captain F. S. Perkins was elected major on the first ballot, but declined as he was not familiar with the new service. The Second Corp Cadets go to camp Sunday.

Postoffice Clerks Oppose Cent Postage

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—The National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, in convention here, has gone on record as opposed to the proposed one-cent postage. The clerks took their stand on the ground that cent postage would enrich the great mail order houses of the country, increasing the handicap of the small merchant and prohibit the department from extending its parcel post service.

VILLA IS AGAIN BEATEN; LOSES DURANGO

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Villa has suffered another crushing defeat, losing Durango to the Carranzistas, according to State Department advices today from Torreon. Villa's forces were declared to be retreating to Torreon. Political conditions in Torreon were reported unsettled and a shortage of food supplies there is causing trouble.

Bomb-Proofing Glass Dome of Morgan Office

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—To guard against bomb throwers, contractors have been busy covering the glass dome of the Morgan buildings with iron lattice work. In order that the work might not attract undue attention, it was not started until after midnight and when most people in the financial district had left for the day.

A detective, it was also learned, had been on guard for weeks on the roof of the building and other detectives had been placed at windows in adjoining buildings overlooking the Morgan building to prevent anybody from throwing missiles through the dome.

Ever since J. P. Morgan was struck by a crank the Morgan building has been well guarded by detectives.

FOSTER DOWN TO OPPOSE QUAKERS

By RIGHT FIELD.

The Red Sox, having returned to the pennant trail after an excursion into the by-paths that would have led them over the precipice if Manager Carrigan had not gently but firmly shooed them back, plan to demonstrate championship ball to the Athletics in the single game that is down on the cards today.

George Foster will be called upon to turn in a "goose egg" day's work, or something near enough to one to keep the Macks at a safe distance. Ray Collins is in the offing and will probably get into tomorrow's clash if he is waved aside today. Ray is eager to show a couple of victories just to keep pace with comeback Vean Gregg.

"Bullet Joe" Bush, who certainly won't see this year's World's Series and like as not won't see the 1916 affair, will get today's Quaker assignment. Friend Nabors, one of the Mackins debutantes, is second choice.

HENRIKSEN LEADING OFF.

The shift in the Red Sox batting order may stand for today, it having worked finely in the second part of yesterday's double bill. Olaf Henriksen's Aboginto neighbors certainly liked the looks of his name in the leadoff position and relieved over his fine day at the bat.

Henriksen, Scott, Hooper, Speaker, Gardner, Hoblitzell, Barry (a the way it goes now. The first tryout was good for eight runs. "Henny's" ability to get on may result in a vacation for Duffy Lewis, though both are willing workers. It's too bad the game doesn't call for four outfielders, for the Sox would be all set in that case.

The Carrigans have finally had it borne in on them that they will have to be up and doing if they are going to hold on at the top. They are resolved not to let any slips beat them out of the games with the Macks today and tomorrow, for after that the White Sox are here.

WHITE SOX COMING.

These White Sox, as we note from recent events and yesterday's defeat of the Tigers, are no easy foe, so the Carrigans are planning to be going full tilt when "Pants" Rowland arrives in this seat of culture on the eleventh instant. The Carrigans are out for everything from now on, whether it be a "set" game or a hard one.

Connie Mack is sending his pupils right in every day to do their best and he will grab all the victories he can, no matter how much havoc it creates or what band of athletes loses $3,000 per as a result of his aspirations.

But the Red Sox have their heads up now and are getting back to the 1912 brand of baseball. When they turn in that brand of pastiming the "fans" hop right back on the band wagon.

Sidelights on Sports

By RIGHT FIELD.

THE Red Sox gave Vean Gregg plenty of encouragement when he appeared as a comeback against the Macks and went the whole route in comfortable fashion. The team was "pulling" for him all the time; from the minute it collected eight runs in the first inning for him to work with. After two or three false starts as a come-back, the popular Southpaw performed very smoothly in his first appearance in a long time before a home crowd.

GREGG'S control was good, only Gene Mackman walking, and he held the hostile blows to eight, the first two coming in the third. If greased he would undoubtedly have been more stingy. Gregg's ability to go to and land a game simplifies the Red Sox pitching problem considerably. With Wood out and Ray Collins having an off year, it began to look as though President Lannin would recall Herbie Pennock, whom he bought from "Connie" Mack, from the Grays.

BUT the Providence team is not yet out of the woods in its battle to repeat as topdliner in the International League, and we probably shall see no red hose on the former Mackian until after the Grays wind up their season, September 15. The Grays are leading their league, but Buffalo is right behind. The Grays and Bisons hook up soon and probably no athletes collecting on the first and fifteenth in Rhode Island city will come Bostonwards until the Grays are through.

FORREST CADY has a bad finger, due to a mixup with "Ty" Cobb's spikes on the road trip and "Chet" Thomas has some sore ribs from a collision with Steve O'Neill of the Tigers, so "Boss Bill" worked all through the double-header. Haley, the clever youngster now with the Grays, could be sent for in an emergency, but Cady ought to be able to get along. He certainly never begs off.

SOME of the "fans," as they were overheard around town, were talking "send for McNally" after Larry Gardner turned in a few days' work that was part lackadaisical or something or other. The Vermont collegian's ears must have burned, for he certainly got into the doubleheader. He batted 1000 in the first game and whanged a homer the first time up in the second and then walked twice. His last two trips to the plate resulted in outs. Larry also had a fine day in the field.

THE report that "Bill" Killifer, the Phillies' star receiver, is being treated by a New York specialist for his arm, is certainly a "break" against the Moran clan. Next to Alexander his loss for any length of time would be about as great a crusher as the Phillies could expect to receive. He was back of the plate whenever Alexander, Mayer or Rixey was on the mound and with him out the Phillies certainly have a handicap to overcome. They came through yesterday, however, with Burns.

BRUNO HAAS, the old Worcester Academy boy, and Davies, who played right field, are among the Bay State lads here with the Macks. Davies, who used to pitch for Peabody High, couldn't fathom Leonard's curves and whiffed thrice.

THE next double-header is that on Monday with the White Sox. The Red Sox hurlers will have an ordeal when the Indians get here September 21 for six games in three days. Lee Fohl's band following the Tiger invasion.

THE "fans" should remember that, beginning today, all single games will start at 3 p. m.

BRAVES AGAIN TO FACE BROOKLYN

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The Braves play the third and final game of their series here today, and Richard (Dick) Rudolf probably will be sent after the Dodgers in hopes of a clean sweep.

Maybe the Braves didn't go yesterday!

For a starter they massacred Rube Marquard, 12 to 1, and then daintily dented "Nap" Rucker, another ancient bit o' Southpaw bric-a-brac, 4 to 1.

Two kids turned the sparkling double triumph.

Victory No. 1 was registered by "Wiffy" Nehf, with "Rescue Tom" Hughes winding up in great shape, when the Terre Haute Terror collapsed after getting rid of the first two hitters in the fifth canto.

Even if the Phillies did beat the Giants, they lost a half length to the Braves, who not only moved back into second position, but boosted themselves to within two and one-half games of first place.

Joe Higgins Victor Over Ted Meredith

WORCESTER, Sept. 9.—Joe Higgins of the Irish-American A. A. of Boston was the star of the electric light meet held in conjunction with the New England Fair. Higgins won the half-mile handicap and then the half-mile invitation for the Mayor Wright trophy, beating Ted Meredith in the latter event by 20 yards.

Tom Halpin won the 100-yard dash, Abel Kivlat the mile run, G. Halfenstein the 440, Harold Weeks the 3-mile run, Williamson the 16-pound shot and Harry Barwise the high jump.

Yates Present; Can't Play.

MADISON, Ct., Sept. 9.—Arthur Yates, the freshman tackle of last year, has reached Yale quarters. He wants to enter the scientific school, but even if successful cannot play on the varsity. Hayes, Farren, Alridge and Waite are new arrivals. "Pie" Way, out to pull a come-back; Conroy and Shelton were veterans at play for the first time.

Brown Has Some Huskies.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 8.—Ward, Maxwell, Barnes, Hoagland, Staff and Hudson, all huskies, joined Brown's football squad at the first practice session on Andrews Field. Fullback Gordon is included in the long list of ineligibles.

Grand Circuit Results.

HARTFORD, Sept. 9.—The Grand Circuit results: 2:10 pace, $2,000, unfinished Tuesday, Russell Boy, (Geers) 2-2-2, 1-1-1; 2:06 pace, $2,000, Single G (Gosnell) 1-1-1; 2:01 trot, $1,000, Margaret Dunn, (Cox) 1-1, 2:24 trot, $2,000, De Roche (Geers) 1-1.

Yale Loses Knowles.

MADISON, Ct., Sept. 9.—The Yale football squad, encamped here for preliminary practice, is expected to total 50 men before nightfall. Thirty-five men were at practice yesterday. Carroll Knowles, the star half-back and punter, will not return to college.

Yale and Princeton in Finals on Links

GREENWICH, Sept. 9.—Yale and Princeton will fight it out today in the final match for the intercollegiate team golf championship at the Greenwich Country Club. In the second of the series of matches Yale defeated the University of Illinois, 6 matches to 3, while Princeton took the measure of Pennsylvania, 7-2.

Although the advent of the University of Illinois caused considerable interest, the Westerners did not fare very well. All three points they won were through matches that were carried to the limit, or to extra holes. Two of Yale's points were scored similarly.

Melodrama Plot for "Fans" at Fenway Park

Today's offering—"Whither Bound?"—a problem play.

Cast—William Carrigan's sterling company, assisted by Cornelius Mack's strolling players.

Interpolated songs—"It Was Not Like This in the Olden Days," Joe Bush; "Goose Eggs, Good, Old-Fashioned Goose Eggs," George Foster.

Incidental music—Jerome Green, the whistler.

Argument—The Red Sox are bound further up and the Macks have reached the lower end of the skids.

Fred Clarke Quits as Pirates' Chief

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—President Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Nationals admits that he has finally allowed Fred Clarke to resign as manager of his ball club. Clarke, worth fully $250,000, has wanted to get out of the game for the past four years, so as to devote his entire attention to his massive farm in Kansas, but Dreyfuss never consented to let him step down. But this time Fred will be allowed to beat it into retirement.

He has brought to the Smoky City four pennants of the National League and one World's Championship. He won the pennant in 1901, 1902, 1903 and 1909, winning the world's flag in the latter year.

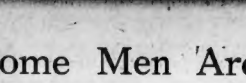
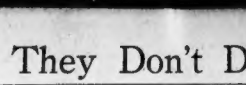
Some Men Are Judged by Their Good Deeds and Others by What They Don't Do



BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS



MRS. PACKEY HAS THE $17,500 SPENT

By RUTH M. BYERS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. — "Packey" McFarland will fight his last fight Saturday evening at Brighton Beach.

This item of sporting news is absolutely authentic. Mrs. McFarland, "Packey's" real manager, sent out the ultimatum today.

When I asked Mr. McFarland if I might meet his wife, he was just leaving for his training quarters. He pondered over the question a long time. Then he made his confession.

"Honest, I'm scared to ask her," he admitted. "You see, Mrs. McFarland doesn't approve of this fight at all. We never discuss it. And I hate to take any chances right now."

Later I met Mrs. McFarland. Then I knew just why "Packey" was not taking any chances. Mrs. McFarland never did approve of "squared circle" as a vocation for her husband. Just about fourteen months ago, when they were married, the boxer made a solemn promise—NEVER AGAIN. Mrs. McFarland's displeasure over the coming match was very evident from the first word of our talk.

IT'S NEVER AGAIN.

"This time—it—is—never again," she announced briefly. "The lure of the game may be 'Packey's' excuse, but $17,500 for thirty minutes is probably the real reason for his breaking his promise to me. However, I'm to get that $17,500. And I've spent the money already—two hats and an automobile."

Mrs. McFarland is a charming little Irish bride. She fits about as well in a boxer's training camp as a suffragette would in a meeting of the antis. It was not so very long ago that Mrs. McFarland graduated from the exclusive girls' school of St. Mary's Notre Dame, in Indiana.

Ten come the five years which followed her social debut in Joliet. Her father is one of the wealthiest in that little Central-Illinois city. From a drawing room to a training camp takes quite a stretch of imagination. Mrs. McFarland confessed quite frankly that she had failed to find the mental adjustment necessary at all interesting.

MRS. "PACKEY" WON'T ATTEND.

"It's all a new world to me," she said. "About all I really understand about 'Packey's' training is that he can't eat the things he wants. Getting into condition seems to be simply another name for starving a man half sick. I am so disgusted with boxing, anyway, that I've never taken the trouble to look at 'Packey' in his so-called fighting togs."

Mrs. McFarland has never seen her husband box. It is estimated that fully 10,000 women will be in the enormous crowd that will pack Brighton Beach Saturday night when McFarland and Leslie Abbott box. But the most important little woman to the plucky Irishman does not intend to go near the place.

"Comet" Loses Tennis Title in the Doubles

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 9. —William M. Johnston, the national tennis single champion and his partner, Clarence J. Griffin, won the national tennis doubles championship on the West Side courts, by defeating the title holders, Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy, in a match that went the full five sets.

It was one of the most brilliantly played and bitterly contested matches ever seen in the history of the game, and youth won.

How closely the contest was waged is shown by the fact that the victors won 23 games and 153 points to the losers' 22 games and 184 points.

Johnson and McLoughlin stood out as the individual stars of the encounter.

The scores were: 2—5, 6—3, 6—4, 3—6, and 6—2.

East vs. West Clash.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Here is how the tennis cracks will line-up in the West vs. East battling: William M. Johnston vs. H. Norris Williams 3d, Maurice E. McLoughlin vs. Karl H. Behr, Clarence J. Griffin vs. Nathaniel W. Niles and Thomas C. Bundy vs. T. R. Pell. In the doubles Johnston and Griffin will play Williams and Watson M. Washburn, while McLoughlin and Bundy will clash with Behr and Pell.

HAL HOFFMAN

By Hal Coffman.

"Silent Pat" Moran, the famous veterinary of the Phillies, has gone right after George Stallings' stuff and it looks as though he is apt to cop a pennant with a team made up of castoffs that the other wiseinheim managers had chucked into the discard.

Just take a slant at some of these birds that are going like a liner with a bird nest on the front. There's Luderus, Cravath, Niehoff, Stock, Demaree, Chalmers, Byrne, Paskert, Whitted, Becker and McQuillan, all names that we heard before with minor teams, and never thought much about.

Take "Wooden Shoes" Cravath, for instance. He was with the American League a couple of times, but was considered too slow on the hoof and was shooed back to Minneapolis, which is known as "the old man's home" of baseball, where he rolled around in the outfield for three years. He'll never make the "hundred" in nine and three-fifths even now, but my! Oh, my! Can't he paste that ball!

Of course, Sherwood Magee doesn't think much about the job he left field that he got now, and turned upon being traded from. Maybe the bunch he's now with will grab the pennant at that, and then, again, maybe they won't. Then there's the noisy kid, "Flatbush Fritz" that's smashing on on the old man with a club swinging wilding in each fist. But Patrick has the crowd out there in front, and the guy in the lead is usually the one that cops the flag; at least it has been so for some years now.

The "Phillies Phlop" is the slogan that has taken the place of "cracking under the strain" of last year, and from the way they are sticking out there, hopping ahead of the procession, it looks like about as much of a myth as the other, and only goes to prove that "the dope" in baseball never was and never will be any good.

Boston Golfers Beaten.

MAPLEWOOD, N. H., Sept. 9.—Alex Smith and Gilbert Nichols of New York, defeated Tom McNamara and Tom Kerrigan of Boston, in an exhibition 36-hole match. The match went to the New York pair when the 35th hole was halved.

Just an Earful

By TAD.

A SAD-EYED, meerschaum-colored jobbie meandered into our office requesting the presence of the "gentman who writes up the boxin' editorials."

The writer moseyed out and there stood our hero. He said he had fought the best there was in Honolulu, the South Sea Islands and Fisher-field, Cal., and desired a quarrel hereabouts with the best there was.

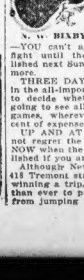
When asked if he had ever lost a battle he smiled, and, doffing his kelly, leaned his dome of knowledge our way, showing a scar like a starfish.

"See dat, boss? Well, dat's de only battle ever was marked up against me. It happened in Bakersfield. The man Ah fought was called Apple Headed Hickey, an' he was blacker dan de inside of a cow. My, dat man was ugly. He had frens, however, and they bet a bunch of iron men that Hickey could beat me. Well, we fought, and he was meat for me. For two rounds dat man was eatin' outa ma hand. Den I drops the right and over he flops like dead. I strolls over to his corner, leans on the ropes and awaits the count. I stood there like a king. I saw money with golden wings coming my way. I heard the referee count six, then seben, and suddenly—I looks up from the floor and there's a big hand wavin' over me, sayin', 'Nine,' 'ten'—'YOU'RE OUT!'

The meerschaum gent sighed, looked out of the window and continued:

"Some hours latah, when the doctor was sewin' my scalp together, I hears that one of the other man's seconds bounced a water bottle off my dome, an' the referee moves over from the other feller and COUNTS ME OUT."

Newell W. Bixby Is Hot After Trip to World's Series



N. W. BIXBY

THREE DAYS MORE—and the AMERICANS great Baseball Contest will be over.

Examine your copy of last Sunday's vote standing. Are you among the leaders?

If not, don't give up the struggle. A lot of vote gathering can be done in three days—enough to put you in the lead. Remember, you don't have to be first in order to win.

If you are now among the leaders —YOU can't afford to give up the fight until the final vote is published next Sunday in just three days more.

THREE DAYS in which to gather in the all-important vote coupons and to decide whether or not YOU are going to see all of the World's Series games, wherever played, without a cent of expense to you.

UP AND AT IT, FANS! You will not regret the time and effort spent NOW when the list of winners is published if you are one of them.

Although Newell W. Bixby of No. 418 Tremont street says he is sure of winning a trip, he is hustling harder than ever to prevent his competitors from jumping into his coveted place.

RACE OF YEAR AT REVERE SATURDAY

"Bargain Night" for the bike fans is the card at the Revere Cycle Track Saturday night, with a championship race at the regular scale of prices.

Exactly the same field that competed in the world's title contest a week ago will take part in the 62½-mile motor-paced race. The only thing lacking to make the event a real championship affair is the crown.

The following riders are booked to start: Victor Linart, Belgium, world's champion; George Wiley, America; Georges Seres, France; Clarence Carman, America, and Tony Colombatto, Italy.

While this race was arranged at the request of Wiley because, as he says, he wants to show that he is Linart's master, it is not going to be a contest between Wiley and Linart by any means. Seres must be figured strongly and so must Carman. Colombatto, too, should do much better than he did in the championship event. At that the Italian rode well, considering that it was his first try on the seaside track.

Field Day at Lynn.

St. Mary's Parish of Lynn holds a field day for the benefit of the Junior Holy Name Society on the Wakefield-Reading Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon. The events will only be open to registered athletes. Entries close tomorrow with Bart Sullivan, No. 68 Maywood street, Roxbury, or Hugh F. Hickey, No. 69 Hamilton avenue, Lynn.

GANDIL AND BOONE FIGHT ON FIELD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—First Baseman Gandil of the Nationals and Second Baseman Boone of the Yankees are today looking for suspensions from President Ban Johnson as a result of their "rough house" on the ball field here yesterday.

Boone and Gandil had a mix-up at second base in the second inning. Boone, after tagging "Chick" out, fell to the ground. Gandil kicked at him, and when the Yankee infielder arose they squared off as if intending to tear into each other.

Umpire Dinneen and their fellow teammates separated the two enraged players before their game of fisticuffs had gone very far. Both were allowed to complete the contest but the chances are Johnson will wire on notice of their suspension.

Compton Springs Bum Prop.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 9.—Outfielder "Pete" Compton had to retire from yesterday's festivities early owing to his bad knees going back on him. At the Braves' hotel this morning Stallings stated he was confident Compton would be able to be on deck this afternoon.

BIG GREEN SQUAD SUITS CAVANAUGH

While it seems strange not to see the names of "Bug" Whitney, Ghee, Curtis and other stars of equal fame on Dartmouth's football roster, it is reassuring to notice that Captain McAuliffe, "Cutey" Spears, Gerrish and Pudrith are still hanging around.

In the last named contingent alone, Coach Cavanaugh has the nucleus for a winner. Without exception each of those veterans has seen at least one year of competition against Princeton, Cornell or Penn. Most of them have seen more.

To back this up, there is enough top-notch material coming up from the freshman and second teams to fill the gaps left by June's graduations many times over; good cause for the Worcester lawyer-coach to smile the smile of the satisfied. Not only is Cavanaugh's stock aplenty, but it is of the calibre that is to his liking—experience, weight and the proper spirit.

That is general, but to be specific the Hanover College has some needs and dire ones at that. A punter, a quarter-back and a couple of ends are very much in demand. McDonough, the Manchester, N. H. lad who ran the freshman eleven, will get a tryout at the signal berth and has a grand chance of coming through. As a schoolboy, and while at Exeter, McDonough had few peers.

It will be a pretty hard matter to find a punter worth while. Several of the candidates are known to have ability, but whether they can fill the bill and suit the commander-in-chief, is hard to tell. White and Saladine showed down the field under punts quite a bit last Fall, but were not considered ripe for any of the contests with the "Big Four," excepting for a part of a period.

"Terry" Poole, formerly of Milton High; Gerrish, the varsity halfback from Malden, and Duhammel of Lawrence, all can punt and the choice early in the season seems to lie among them.

Grass drills are now old for those men who reported first, but this system of weight reducing is sure to be retained for at least an additional fortnight. For those candidates who appear for the first time this week, it will be the daily work for a month to come.

Lewis Lets Britton Name His Own Notch

It is expected that the Atlas A. A. will soon announce that Ted ("Kid") Lewis of England and Jack Britton will be the main attraction at the Arena on September 27. This will be the third meeting between these battlers. Lewis will allow Britton to come in at catch weights, states word to the AMERICAN from New York.

Gilbert Gallant and Charley White will box at the Atlas on September 20. "Sandy" Ferguson and "Battling" Levinsky clash next Tuesday night.

"THE RABBITS' COLUMN" By Walter J. Maranville SHORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

BROOKLYN, Sept. 9. — Even Brooklyn "fans" are now forced to admit that the Braves are very much in the battle for the National League pennant. Fully 20,000 persons were on hand here yesterday when we defeated the local pennant entrant in both ends of a double-header. As the Dodgers had just taken three straight games from the Phillies, it cannot be said that we were picking on cripples.

ONE of the most pleasing features about our double triumph was the sensational pitching of Jess Barnes in the second tussle. This youngster gave a grand account of himself and had the opposition at his mercy most of the time. If he can continue to pitch the way he did yesterday, he should play a mighty important role in our work during the rest of the season.

ARTIE NEHF pitched bang-up baseball up to the time he collapsed in the first tussle. The clever southpaw's "blow-up" was due to an attack of indigestion, while the intense heat also had its effect upon him. He's all right today and will be ready to go into the box when called upon by Boss Stallings.

WITH Catcher Killifer out of the game the Phillies will experience hard sledding. Burns is a good backstop, but is not quite as reliable as Killifer. I am informed that Killifer is suffering from a lame arm and that he is not even able to throw a ball from home plate to the pitcher's box. If this is the case it will go hard with the Phillies, as "Bill" is a crackajack workman and just at present Moran's team needs all its strength in the field.

I FEEL confident we will represent the National League in the world's series the coming Fall and would like to see the Red Sox do the honors in the Johnson circuit. I do not know much about Carrigan's team except what I have read in the papers. Boss Stallings and Fred Mitchell, however, are well acquainted with the workings of most of Carrigan's players, as they are both old American Leaguers. Therefore if we should clash with the Red Sox they will not be able to put over many surprises on us.

I WAS mighty glad to have Johnny Evers working with me yesterday. The "Keystone King" was on the job every minute and kept the rest of us traveling at top speed all the time. I regret that President Tener saw fit to suspend Evers when he did, but that incident is now a thing of the past and Johnny will be out there at second base each day fighting for victory. As a field leader Evers has not an equal. He can get more work out of a ball club than any man in baseball.

TOM HUGHES continues to get into a game about every other day. The slim hurler has already taken part in two contests this week. He faced the Giants Monday, while he got into the fray when Nehf collapsed yesterday.

EVERY member of our team was tickled when we learned that Brooklyn had secured "Rube" Marquard. It would have been a shame to have allowed the left-hander to go to the minors, especially when we are able to beat him about every time he opposes us. We certainly gave the "Rube" a hot reception yesterday when he banged his offerings to the four corners of the Brooklyn ball yard.

B. A. A. Athlete Suspended.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—F. J. Rourke of the Boston A. A., New England A. A. U. javelin champion, has been suspended by Chairman Stumpf of the Registration Committee for competing in the Caledonian professional games held at Maspeth Labor Day.

Syracuse Starts Next Monday.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 9.—More than 100 candidates for the Syracuse University football team are expected to report to Coach Frank J. O'Neill for the first practice of the season next Monday. The first game is with Hobart, September 25.

GALLANT STARTS TRAINING FOR WHITE GO

GILBERT GALLANT, Chelsea's aggressive lightweight, was back at his training camp today. As Alex McLean's protege has a very pressing meeting with Charley White of Chicago at the Atlas A. A. September 21, he had been forced to cancel all social engagements. He does not even believe he will have time to make a flying trip to New York in order to attend the $32,500 tango between Messrs. McFarland and Gibbons, dancers extraordinary.

Gallant will have to be at his best if he is to make a good showing against White. The latter is one of the classiest 133-pound fighters in the world and will probably get the first crack at Champion Freddy Welsh in a twenty-round contest, provided he is successful in his whirl with Gallant at the Triple-A organization.

White has experienced much success in his contests in this city. He knocked out Eddie Murphy, Freddy Tells and Charley Thomas, while he was awarded a draw in his contest with "Young" Saylor.

"SANDY" FERGUSON, who has also played a prominent part in making Chelsea famous, is a busy young man these days. The "Stubborn Child" is preparing for his twelve-round skirmish with Battling Levinsky at the Atlas Club next Tuesday night. This will be Ferguson's second contest at the local club this year. He started his "come back" campaign by meeting Sam McVey. He put up quite a hard tussle, but was stopped in eight rounds. In Levinsky, Ferguson will meet a boxer who does not outclass him, so has a better chance to win than when he fought McVey.

TERRY BROOKS has the fighting fever again. His victory over Charley Beyers has filled him with confidence and he is now anxious to get a match with the winner of the Alger-Brown mixup, which is the semi-final match at the Atlas Club next week. Brooks showed that he is a former fighting ability in his whirl with Beyers and possesses enough class to make things interesting for the best of the local lightweights and welterweights.

Toth Will Go It Sunday in Round Trip to the Light

Charley Toth of the L Street Swimmers' Club will start off Charlestown bridge at 12:50 Sunday morning in an attempt to swim to Boston light and return. Only one other man, Sam Richards, has completed this gruelling test, and it is the ambition of Toth to break his clubmate's record for the distance.

Toth welcomes any man to join him in an open race, and is especially desirous of competing with Henry Sullivan of Lowell, whom Toth claims has ignored his challenges.

In the recent Nantasket to Provincetown race Toth was given credit for swimming thirty miles.

CLASH BETWEEN STREET BOARD AND GIBLIN

Representative Giblin of East Boston clashed with the Street Commissioners at a hearing on the advisability of taking over Neptune road from the Park Department, and his argument favoring a change was cut off because of its alleged personal and political bias today.

Giblin's remarks were strenuously objected to by Commissioner Goodwin, who threatened to leave the room if politics and personalities were dragged into the case. Goodwin was backed up by former Representative Niland.

The triplex lash became so heated in the meantime that Commissioner Dunn, as acting chairman, was compelled to interfere. He ordered both Giblin and Niland to confine themselves to the question or stop talking altogether.

The hearing also was featured by Giblin arguing for and against allowing the Elevated to lay tracks over Neptune road to Wood Island Park, which he first claimed that all the abutting property owners favored. After this was denied by Anthony Miraglia, who claimed that the direct opposite was true, Giblin switched around and favored running the cars on Prescott street.

Fireman Risks Life To Save Children

Lieutenant Martin Conley, of Ladder 5, today saved a score of school children from danger when at the risk of his life, he stopped a runaway horse on Dorchester street, South Boston. The horse was attached to a wagon, bearing the name of Smith Bros. Laundry. At the time of the runaway the street was crowded with children leaving school.

Women's City Club at Storrow Farm

Several hundred members of the Women's City Club gathered today at Lincoln, where Mrs. James J. Storrow, their president, has opened her cross farm. Automobiles left 40 Beacon street at 4 o'clock, reaching the Storrow farm in time for supper, which was in picnic style, on the lawn. Mrs. Storrow had planned an old-fashioned corn roast.

Bishop Cusack Enthroned.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The enthronement of Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Cusack as New York City and Catholic bishop of Albany took place today. Cardinal Farley conducted the ceremony.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were strong in the last hour, New York being active in Boston and New York and up 3 in the latter market. A local financial publication says its strength "was accompanied by private New York advices that July earnings statement to issue tomorrow would show a surplus of $300,000, or more than double the surplus of $357,622 in July, 1914." By afternoon sterling exchange and weakened a little, the quotations being demand $4.65¾, cables $4.66¼.

New York gains at 2.15 included Allis-Chalmers 1⅝, American Can ⅛, U. S. Steel 1⅛, American Woolen 1⅝, Car and Foundry 2, Bethlehem 26, Crucible 2⅜, Distillers 1¼, General Motors 3⅝, Studebaker 3⅝, Westinghouse 1⅝, Willys-Overland 1¼, Mexican Petroleum 2⅞, N. Y. Air Brake 2½, U. S. Rubber 1⅜, Union Pacific 1, St. Paul 1⅛, Reading ⅝, Northern Pacific 1⅛, N. Y. Central ⅝, Lehigh Valley ⅜, Chesapeake & Ohio ⅝, Canadian Pacific ⅝, Baltimore & Ohio ½, Atchison ⅝, Tennessee Copper ⅝, Inspiration ¼ and Anaconda ⅜. Chino was off ⅛ and Utah ⅛. Rock Island was off ⅛.

In Boston New Haven was up 2⅝, Butte & Superior ⅝, Elevated 1, Boston & Maine 1, Massachusetts Electric preferred 2½, Pond Creek 1, Copper Range ⅛, Granby ½, North Butte ⅛ and Calumet & Arizona ½. Tamarack was off 1, Osceola 1, American Zinc ⅝, Gulf common ⅛, Gulf preferred ⅜ and Shoe Machinery 1¼.

BETHLEHEM AT ITS HIGHEST.

The rise of Bethlehem Steel was a feature in New York, it selling at 325 by afternoon. This was a new high record and an advance of 26 from yesterday. General Motors made a record high before noon, advancing 10 to 265. Chesapeake & Ohio and N. Y. Central sold at their highest prices this year. The largest gains were by war munition makers. Prices ranged higher at the opening, when coppers were the weakest. They followed the pace of the United States Rails were strong from the start, with few exceptions, although their gains were aged small. Sentiment was more bullish because of the government report, and statements about the steel industry and belief that foreign exchange will soon be on a normal basis. British foreign loan representatives are expected to land from the steamship Lapland tomorrow, according to a New York report.

LITTLE TRADING HERE.

The Boston market was dull all day. Prices were irregular at the opening and most of the time afterwards. Local issues did not respond much to the strength shown by stocks in New York. Butte & Superior was active and higher. Its directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share and ordered an extra, $5 disbursement.

There is little change in the price or demand for leading metals. Electrolytic copper was offered by small interests yesterday at less than 17 cents a pound. Not much was disposed of, it is understood. Large interests are still asking 18 cents—and are waiting. In London today spot copper was off 2s. 6d. and futures 7s. 6d. Electrolytic, lead and spelter were unchanged.

HERRESHOFF, OF CUP FAME, TO WED NURSE

BRISTOL, R. I., Sept. 9.—Announcement has just been made of the engagement of Nathaniel Green Herreshoff, famous designer and builder of cup defenders, and Miss Ann Bosbuck, a professional nurse of Providence, with whom Mr. Herreshoff became acquainted ten years ago, when Mrs. Herreshoff was in her fatal illness. Miss Bosbuck attended Mrs. Herreshoff professionally. The wedding, it is said, will take place some time this month. Miss Bosbuck is a graduate nurse of the nurses' school of the Rhode Island Hospital of Providence. She is more than twenty years younger than Mr. Herreshoff, who was born in 1849. Miss Bosbuck came to Providence from Canada.

OUR FIRST DUTY IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE;
OUR NEXT DUTY IS TO PREPARE FOR WAR

If Our Street Railways Under Private Ownership Cannot Carry a Man Today for as Low a Fare as Ten Years Ago, It Is Time We Tried What Public Ownership Can Do

THE effort of the Bay State Street Railway to raise its fares is a very serious thing for the people, not only of the district served by this street railway, but for the people all over the State.

The step taken by the Bay State is undoubtedly part of a well-organized movement among many of the street railways of Massachusetts.

If this railway company is permitted to increase its fares we may expect all the other street railways to make similar demands, based upon the ground on which the demands of the Bay State were successfully maintained. Therefore, no citizen of the Commonwealth who travels on a street railway can afford to remain indifferent to the proper settlement of this serious question.

Indeed, the indirect effect of raising carfares, upon the general interests of the Commonwealth, is much greater than the direct effect upon the citizens who pay the fares.

Communities where the cost of inter-communication is increasing, and not diminishing, are generally not prosperous communities. As the arts and sciences develop, as inventive genius enables machinery to do the work of more and more men, the cost of communication ought gradually to decrease. This certainly is the general rule. Of course there are exceptions, but the burden of proof is very clearly upon the railway company which alleges that the conditions affecting its business are exceptional.

The long-run interests of a street railway or a railroad demand as low rates as possible; but the directors of our public service corporations, we have learned from repeated experiences, do not always consult the long-run interests of their companies.

High rates are a serious blight upon the development of any community, because they tend to retard the mobility of its people, to discourage the coming of new interests, to concentrate population, and thus to deprive the children of those who are not well to do of an opportunity of being reared in the open districts of the suburbs, and to deprive their working parents of the refreshment and rejuvenation which a change from the city where they work to the suburbs where cheap carfares enables them to live always effects.

Former Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland, who introduced successfully the three-cent fare in his city, and who was one of our greatest public-spirited men, declared that in the development of society the street railways would be like the elevators in the large buildings—FREE; that it was as proper and necessary to the development of the community to allow citizens to use street railways without charge as it was to allow them to use the streets without charge.

We used to be obliged to pay for the use of the streets. Private corporations built the streets, and every little distance the traveler used to find a gate swung across his path which would not be opened until he had paid his toll. Development of our civilization has abolished the toll highway and the toll bridge. Public ownership of the public utilities, like street railways, is approaching rapidly.

Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven Railroad, and who within a few years wielded more power than any other man in New England, has recently declared that public ownership will come within a very few years: but until then we must all meet this concerted demand of the street railways to increase their fares.

The AMERICAN would not deny to the street railways the right to pay a reasonable dividend upon a reasonable investment, reasonably managed; but the idea of a general increase in carfares is so obnoxious to the general public interests, and to the proper and natural tendency of the times, that the Bay State and its confederates in this movement for the increase in fares must prove all three of these propositions beyond a reasonable doubt:

FIRST: That their investment is reasonable.

SECOND: That their management is sound and economical.

THIRD: That their profits are reasonable.

But even if this proposition should be satisfactorily established in the judgment of the Public Service Commission, it would still remain a serious question whether the increase of carfares should be granted.

If, in the face of our industrial development, the private managers cannot carry a man on our street railways as far for the same price today as he was carried ten years ago, then the time has come when the public should undertake to perform this great public function itself.

We have no doubt that if the street railways press their demands for increased rates, they will very materially help the cause of public ownership in this Commonwealth.

The State cannot well undertake the control of an interstate railroad, but it can very readily undertake the control of an interurban street railway; and if private management of the street railway has so broken down that the general increase of fares must be granted, it is quite time that we took steps to acquire these properties and to manage them as we manage our public schools, our streets, our water supply, and as many of our cities and towns are now successfully managing their lighting plants.

Harriet Ford Tells How a Girl May Succeed as a Dramatist

By Harriet Ford

Miss Ford, as a dramatist, has had three consecutive successes. "The Argyle Case," "The Dummy" and "Polygamy."

IV—Placing a Play

HAVING written your first play, it is best, if you have no theatrical connections, to place it through an agent. There are one or two that I shall be glad to recommend. The agent is in touch with the managers, and you can trust to his or her judgment as to the best market.

He receives a commission of 10 per cent of all your royalties. Certain agents, I understand, charge varying sums for reading manuscripts; but I have never paid an agent anything unless the play was sold.

Attend to the typing of your own manuscript. Four copies will cost you $16, $10 for the first copy and $2 for each carbon set. Send one copy to Washington to secure your copyright. Write to the Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, for the directions.

The typed manuscript should cover in all about 125 pages. After the play has been produced more elaborate stage directions, of course, will lengthen it.

Your agent might arrange for you to read the play yourself to a manager or a star. This is an advantage if you read well.

Your agent will draw up your contract. If you are dealing directly with the manager he will have it drawn up. There should be an advance of royalties on the signing of the contract. That may be as little as $100, or as much as $1,500.

The advance seldom exceeds that amount. It is frequently $500—sometimes $1,000. The royalties on the play of an unknown writer are uncertain. Leave it to your agent to make the best bargain for your first play. Five per cent, on all gross receipts would be fair.

The successful author receives 10 per cent., or royalties on a sliding scale, beginning with 5 per cent. on the first $3,000, 7½ per cent. on the next $2,000, 10 per cent. on the next $2,000 and 15 per cent. of all over $10,000 gross receipts.

These figures are, of course, rare. Managers compete for work of the successful dramatist. The moving picture rights are usually shared with the manager. Then there are options on foreign rights that become important if your play succeeds. I think it is better for the author to retain herself all foreign rights.

Plays are seldom sold outright. Sometimes the agreement is that when a certain sum—say $10,000—has been paid in royalties, the play becomes the property of the manager. This would not happen in the case of a well-known playwright. On the other hand, if the manager fails to produce a play for, say fifty performances during the season, it is customary to have it revert to the author.

In the case of a one-act play a fixed sum is paid every week, two weeks in advance. The sum per week may be $25, $40, $50 to $100—depending, of course, on the demand for your work.

In her next article Miss Ford will tell of the author's share in rehearsing a new play.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

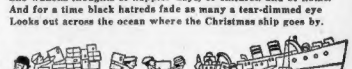
Full Neutral Rights

England and the allies have agreed to permit Christmas ships to sail from Germany for the United States.

SERENE beneath the frowning forts and out across the tide,
Where, screened behind their rolling smoke, the sullen dreadnoughts ride,
The good ship Christmas lays her course, 'cross seas and far away,
With never fear that hidden foe may hamper or delay.
For though no port and starboard hands the battle signals fly,
A truce is ordered on the deep when Santa Claus goes by.

SECURE from seizure or attack the crates and bales of toys
Designed by loving, peaceful hands for little girls and boys.
Not in the days when Captain Kidd sailed half the oceans o'er
Could cargo such as this be held as contraband of war.
And now, amid the bitterest strife, each nation guarantees
The ship that Santa Claus commands the freedom of the seas.

A SHIP of peace, a ship of dreams, a ship of joy and hope—
She journeys safe past fighting top and furtive periscope
And in the hearts of those that watch her cleave the tossing foam
She wakens thoughts of happier days, of children and of home.
And for a time black hatreds fade as many a tear-dimmed eye
Looks out across the ocean where the Christmas ship goes by.



A Conversational Draw

Senator Penrose's criticism of Senator Root is the most important no-decision argument since the well-known exchange of amenities between the pot and the kettle.

So as to Be on the Safe Side

There is no objection to Henry Ford's devoting a million dollars to an anti-preparedness campaign, so long as it is all spent in European countries.
